33 years on, two accused in the murder of Mirwaiz held

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ABOUT 33 years after the assassination of separatist leader and top cleric Mirwaiz Mohammad Farooq by the Hizbul Mujahideen, the J&K police in a major breakthrough arrested two of the accused who were on the run so far.

One of them, Zahoor Ahmad Bhat a.k.a Bilal, had sprayed bullets on the Mirwaiz, which led to his death, informed Rashmi Ranjan Swain, Special Director General of Police CID. The other arrested accused is Javed Bhat a.k.a. Afzal Khan.

Mirwaiz Mohammad Farooq, the father of Hurriyat leader Mirwaiz Umar Farooq, was gunned down by terrorists at his residence in Srinagar on May 21, 1990. Later, dozens of people were killed and about 100 injured after security men fired on his funeral procession in Hawal area of Srinagar.

"During investigation, it was found that five Hizb militants, who had all gone to Pakistan for arms training, were involved in the killing. The group was led by then Hizb commander Abdullah Bangroo. Bangroo had received instructions from his ISI handler in Pakistan to eliminate the Mirwaiz," said Swain. One of the accused, Ayoub Dar, is serving time as he was awarded a lifer by a Special TADA court in 2009. Of the remaining accused, two — Abdullah Bangroo and Rehman Shigan — were killed in the separate encounters.

Both Afzal Khan Bilal and Zahoor Ahmad Bhat went to Pakistan, Nepal and other places to evade arrest. They returned to Kashmir a few years ago and maintained a low profile but were finally nabbed.

Siddu, DKS stick to claims for CM post

Congress top brass face daunting task in choice

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI & PREETHA NAIR @ Bengaluru/New Delhi

THE Congress high command is faced with a daunting task to choose between former chief minister Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar as the new chief minister of Karnataka.

Sources privy to the happenings in Delhi said on Monday night that Siddaramiah was the likely CM. They said a decision had been taken and that an announcement would soon be made after holding discussions with Shivakumar, who had cancelled his Delhi visit on Monday citing ill-health.

However, the scene changed drastically on Tuesday with the arrival of Shivakumar in the national capital.

Both the leaders were adamant throughout the day and refused to back down from staking their respective claims for the top post.

The race for the top post heated up after Shivakumar reached Kharge's residence in New Delhi a little after 5 pm and held talks with him for 30 minutes.

Soon after Shivakumar's departure, Siddaramaiah arrived at Kharge's residence, and the two leaders held discussions for nearly an hour.

Sources said that Kharge sought opinions from both the leaders on their choices and formation of government.

According to senior leaders, Shivakumar made a fresh push for the CM post during his meeting with Kharge, citing several reasons to validate his claim.

While he maintained that he rebuilt the party in the state, he also held Siddaramaiah responsible for the collapse of the government in 2019 when Congress ran a coalition with JDS.

According to sources, he is said to have told Kharge that he would settle for nothing less than the CM's post.

The secret ballot conducted in Bengaluru on Sunday night was also shown to both the leaders. Siddaramaiah enjoys the support of a majority of newly-elected Congress MLAs.

NIMHANS FINDINGS

Deadly arsenic threatens B'lureans too, shows study

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

A first-of-its kind study led by the National Institute of Mental Health & Neuro Sciences (NIMHANS) and King's College, London, has indicated a worrisome possibility of arsenic affecting brain functions of children, adolescents and young adults even in regions in and around Bengaluru where arsenic presence in soil and water is found to be much lower than the known danger levels.

This is because the study found that even low exposure to arsenic, far below the thresholds set by the World Health Organization (WHO), can "alter" brain structures and impair cognitive abilities among the 6-23 age segment, making them more vulnerable to serious mental illnesses.

Arsenic, a naturally occurring toxic chemical element, is found in water, air, and soil in varying quantities. Long-term exposure to arsenic can cause cancer and skin lesions, and is associated with cardiovascular disease, diabetes and linked to negative impacts on cognitive development and increased deaths in young adults, according to the WHO. Arsenic-contaminated food, water and soil in which crops are grown, pose a grave threat to public health from arsenic. The study found that the impact of exposure to low level arsenic is not limited to people living in the flood plains and deltas of large river networks — such as the Indus, the Ganges-Brahmaputra-Meghna rivers, the Mekong, and the Red River, all of which have their origins from the arsenic laden rocks of the Himalayas — but has also been found in far flung cities like Bengaluru.

> The study found children and young adults in Bengaluru having greater difficulties in their brains than those living in the flood plains of the Himalayas because of the former's rice eating habits
>
> Vivek Benegal, Prof, Psychiatry, Centre for De-addiction Medicine, NIMHANS

The study, 'The Consortium on Vulnerability to Externalizing Disorders and Addictions (cVEDA)', was a multi-centre, population-based cohort study of over 9,000 children, adolescents and young adults in seven centres across India. "It discovered that minimal exposure to arsenic, far below the WHO threshold, during the developmental period (six to 23 years), can harm the development of brain structure and function and increase vulnerability to mental illnesses like schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, attention deficit/hyperactivity disorder, addiction among others," said the study's principal investigator Vivek Benegal, Professor, Psychiatry, Centre for De-addiction Medicine, NIMHANS. # Huligemma fair: No Devadasi ritual this time

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Koppal

An awareness drive against the Devadasi system at a village in Koppal

WHILE the rest of Karnataka was busy voting on May 13, several officials from the Koppal district administration were on their toes to prevent poor young girls from becoming Devadasis, a tradition where girls are not allowed to marry, but solicit men. The annual fair of Huligemma Devi Temple at Hulagi village in Koppal district witnesses "muttu kattuvadu", a ritual of converting young girls as Devadasis.

This year, the district administration made elaborate arrangements to prevent such attempts around the temple.

It is believed that those who become Devadasis have to go through the rituals at the temple. Policemen and officials in plainclothes kept a close watch on parents and a group of villagers accompanied by some local priests. "We stopped 30 attempts to convert girls as Devadasis this time. In 2022, 300 such cases were reported in the temple. There were no FIRs, but the parents were counselled and sent home. On May 13, we found 30 families that wanted to convert young girls into Devadasis," an official said, adding that due to increased awareness and vigilance, many families now conduct the rituals at homes or at some secluded spots at night. "Many poor and illiterate people become victims of this social evil. Girls are forced to go through the rituals and eventually become sex workers," he said.

Monsoon to arrive on June 4, says IMD; it's June 7, says Skymet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi / T'Puram

THE onset of this year's monsoon season is likely to be slightly delayed, the India Meteorological Department (IMD) said on Tuesday. It forecast the onset of the southwest monsoon over Kerala coast on June 4, instead of the usual June 1. The IMD gave an error margin of four days before or after the onset date of June 4.

Private weather forecasting agency Skymet had a slightly different take. It said the onset will be delayed even further, pegging it on June 7.

While IMD vouched for the accuracy of its prediction in the past 18 years, Skymet gave the delayed onset due to the presence of cyclone and lack of visible signs of monsoon conditions.

In April, the IMD forecast the southwest monsoon rainfall would be normal despite the high probability of developing of El Nino conditions. But Skymet has predicted below-par monsoon.

According to experts, the onset date has no relationship with seasonal monsoon rainfall.

The monsoon arrived in the southern state on May 29 last year, June 3 in 2021, June 1 in 2020, June 8 in 2019 and May 29 in 2018.

Kerala is the entry point of the monsoon on the Indian mainland. The advance of the southwest monsoon over the mainland is marked by the onset over the souther state.

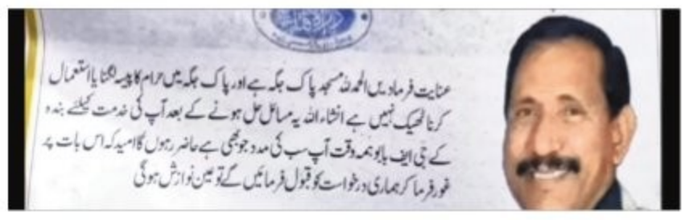
AFTER POLL LOSS, KGF BABU ASKS CHICKPET MASJIDS TO RETURN CHEQUES FOR ₹17.3 CR

The richest politician now cities a 'fatwa', says it is 'haram' to spend his money



MOHAMMED YACOOB @BENGAURU

AFTER a humiliating defeat in the Assembly elections from Chickpet constituency, independent candidate Yousuf Sharieff aka KFG Chikad Babu has allegedly published an advertisement in an Urdu newspaper asking 64 masjids to return his cheques. During campaigning, Babu, the richest candidate, gave cheques for Rs 17.30 crore to committees of 64 masjids in the constituency.

It is said that Babu told the committees not to spend his money as it is "haram" (unacceptable) and asked them to return the cheques at the earliest. Citing a "fatwa" from Darul Uloom, an Islamic institution, that such donations from politicians during elections are "haram", Babu asked committees of masjids, including Masjid-E-Athiq at Tank Garden in Siddapura and Masjid-E-Husna in Krishnappa Garden, to return his cheques.

Babu, who was associated with Congress, contested as an independent candidate after he was denied ticket by the party.

During his campaign, Babu promised to build 300 houses for slum dwellers in Chickpet if elected. He even came up with a manifesto promising to spend Rs 300 crore on the development of Chickpet.

Meanwhile, lashing out at Babu, secretary of Mavalli Masjid Khadir Ahmed Sharif said it appears that Babu has purchased the "fatwa" from a local moulvi to target the masjids in Chickpet. It was Babu who sent invitations to all masjids and a function was held at Haq House at SR Nagar where he distributed the cheques. Babu stated that it was his donation and can be utilised for the development of masjids. "Now, he wants us to return his cheques," Sharif added.

Secretary of City Market's Jamia Masjid Noorul Ameen said Jamia Masjid was involved in distribution of cheques. "Babu stated that he paid tax for the money he is giving," he added.

'Cong won, but don't give right wingers a chance'

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the thumping victory of the Congress in the Assembly elections, leaders of various communities have advised youths not to display arrogance and allow right-wing groups to point fingers at them. "The vulnerable sections should be careful not to give any opportunity to opponents to further their agenda. We need to exercise caution, not display arrogance, not take the law into our hands, not indulge in any kind of communal activities and speech," said Saad Belgami, state president, Jamat-E-Islami Hind, Karnataka.

He added that discriminatory laws should be removed, but this should be done legally and democratically, without hurting the sentiments of others. Chief priest of Jamia Masjid in City Market, Maqsood Imran Rashadi, said keeping in mind the 2024 elections, political parties may try to play with people's sentiments and may provoke them to create a law and order problem.

"This is the time that one should be careful and handle the situation well," he said.

"We have to earn our living with honesty, get ourselves well educated, and never indulge in unlawful activities. Religion is purely personal and not for display. Never compare or criticize others' faith, beliefs, and practises."

Rev Dr Peter Machado, Archbishop of Bengaluru, said the Assembly results have sent message of peace, harmony and unity among different communities that coexist in the state. "I urge the people of Karnataka to rally together, transcending political affiliations, and work hand in hand to build a vibrant and prosperous state. Let us respect one another's religious beliefs, celebrate our shared values, and promote social justice and equality for all. As we move forward, let us remember that the progress of Karnataka depends on our collective efforts. Let us embrace the ideals of peace, harmony, and unity, and build a state that shines as a beacon of progress."

IRDAI directive a huge boon for surrogate moms

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

FOR those who cannot conceive and choose surrogacy as an option, the recent circular by the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI) comes as a shot in the arm. As it states that all health insurance policies must cover the cost of the surrogacy process.

Surrogacy has become a preferred way for couples to have children. It's a medical procedure wherein a woman agrees to carry a pregnancy for another person, or couple. It is usually an expensive process and can cost up to Rs 18- 20 lakh.

The circular, released on May 10, mandated that intending women, or couple, can purchase a general health insurance coverage in favour of a surrogate mother for a period of 36 months from an insurance company or an agent recognized by the IRDAI. "The insurance will have to cover all expenses for complications arising during the pregnancy and also post-partum delivery complications," it said. The directive also mentioned that an insurance coverage of 12 months for oocyte donors must be provided for women who donate their egg cells for another person's pregnancy.

"The circular by IRDAI is a welcome move to provide cover for families and fulfill their dream of having children, especially now with medical advancement in the domain," said Bhaskar Nerurkar, head of health administration team, Bajaj Allianz General Insurance.

Post the directive, insurance companies are analyzing how the policy can be provided to couples. Aditya Bagarka, head of strategy at Plum Insurance, said, "Companies should aim to get insurers to extend coverage at least up to maternity limit for all medical expenses including hospitalization, day care treatments, maternity and Assisted Reproduction Techniques (ARTs) incurred by the parents for the surrogate mothers."

PAY COMMISSION TERM EXTENDED

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

THE term of the Seventh Pay Commission, constituted to revise the pay scale of government employees in Karnataka, has been extended by six months.

The Commission was constituted on November 19, 2022, with retired IAS officer Sudhakar Rao heading it, with a tenure of six months.

With its term coming to an end, the State government has extended it by six months, starting May 19. The Commission is in consultation with various departments, and is expected to take some more time.

It may be recalled that in March this year, just before election dates were announced, the Karnataka State Government Employees' Association had staged a dharna, demanding a 40 per cent hike and implementation of the 7th Pay Commission.

Former CHIEF MINISTER Basavaraj Bommai had convinced them to call off the strike by giving a 17 per cent hike. The government had assured them that their demands would be considered after the Pay Commission had submitted its report.

Karnataka Government Employees' Association president C S Shadakshari told The New Indian Express that due to the model code of conduct, the Commission could not hold meetings with departments and organisations as the Election Commission did not give permission for it, and had led to a delay.

2ND METRO OPS CONTROL CENTRE CAN MANAGE DRIVERLESS TRAINS

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

NAMMA Metro is on course to get its second operations control centre which is getting ready at Baiyappanahalli depot. The centre, coming up on a plot of 498 sqm, will play a crucial role in controlling operations of trains of upcoming lines of the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL).

The upcoming centre will cater to crucial lines: Kalena Agrahara to Nagawara (Underground line, Reach 5 and Reach 6), Silk Board to K R Puram (Phase 2A), KR Puram to KIA (Phase 2B) and Phase-3 (two corridors, JP Nagar IVth Phase to Kempapura and Hosahalli to Kadabgere). The first OCC built over 12 years ago caters to just two lines -- Purple Line and Green Line and their extensions.

BMRCL chief public relations officer B L Yashavanth Chavan told TNIE that the centre will be unique as it will have a rolling stock control desk. "With unattended train operations (driverless trains) set to become commonplace in future Metro operations, this desk will take care of most of the operations. It will also carry out troubleshooting whenever required," he said. Emergency train operators will be present in case of any problems.

The new centre will also have communications based train control system through radio. "This will help in accurate and timely transfer of train-related information," the CPRO added.

Metro's second operations control centre coming up at Baiyappanahalli

Another top official said that the OCC will be equipped with sophisticated surveillance and camera systems.

Top BMRCL officials inspected the upcoming OCC last week. A senior official said, "All the contracts have been awarded. The building construction is under way and the ground plus two out of the proposed five floors have been completed."

Chavan said there was no specific deadline for its completion.

Crucial link launch soon

Two incomplete Metro stretches, the crucial link between KR Puram and Baiyappanahalli as well as Kengeri to Challaghatta, are set for simultaneous launch by end of July or mid-August, said highly placed BMRCL sources.

While the 13-km Whitefield to KR Puram stretch was inaugurated on March 25, the 2.5-km stretch from KR Puram to Baiyappanahalli could not be completed. "Cables for signalling and telecommunication are presently being laid and tracks are also being put now. Trials and CMRS inspection need to take place. We are looking at launching them by July-end or maximum by August 15," a source said. The BMRCL MD had spelt June-end as the deadline earlier.

Meanwhile, the 1.5-km stretch between Kengeri and Challaghatta Metro stations too will be launched along with it. "One can then board a train at Baiyappanahalli and go up to Challaghatta at one go," a source said.

Daily Starscope

17TH May: The night sky is a wonderful thing. If you go out tonight and look up then you'll actually be looking at the edge of the universe, billions and billions of miles away. The snag is that astronomers can't agree that the universe actually has an edge at all, mainly because, if it does, we can't explain what's on the other side!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Time marches on and the Moon edges its way around your chart, helping you wrap up a number of outstanding issues. By the way, if you are worried that the past is taking up more of your time than the present, relax - it's all part of the current pressure to catch up with yourself!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Don't make too much of a song and dance at home, and keep your head if family relationships are still in a state of flux. This is no time to start utterly untried and experimental new ventures. Instead you should be making rapid moves to clear up loose ends.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Today's unforeseen events could be expensive, at least more costly than you thought. Rather than resisting the trend of the stars, why not go with the flow, get out your savings and have yourself a little treat? Lay your feelings on the line and try to get someone close to give you an answer.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Everything that happens over the next forty-eight hours will edge you decisively into the future. You may not believe it, but this also goes for developments which might be initially disappointing. A course of action which is derailed now would probably not have succeeded in any case.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Anyone who still believes that you are too nice to create a stir had better think again. However, just in case you become complacent, let me point out that you need to secure as much support as possible for your plans. You might even be able to turn a rival into an ally.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
A certain amount of friction is inevitable, and could even be helpful, and the main point of contention seems to be financial. You had probably better realise now that the future is uncertain and that you therefore have opportunities to better yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Mars is sailing happily through your chart, but the results may make you squirm. Over the next month you are liable to be in the situation where you unintentionally offend people and then have to spend a great deal of time apologising. Always remember - it could be worse!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Foreign and overseas factors seem to be strong. At the very least, a long-distance invitation is looming. Perhaps there's room ahead for a break, or perhaps it's time to brush up on a language. Family members who are far away should be contacted soon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
This is certain to be a day of financial intrigue. There are bargains to be had, for sure, but what is really and truly important is a monetary partnership. Working matters impinge on your consciousness, perhaps because you're about to remember something which you ought to have done, but didn't.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Let others make the first move and don't try to force what can only be a delicate matter. If you wait for partners to show their hands, then you'll have a clear idea of what you must do next. But these are sensitive times, and subtle decisions are called for.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
There are so many thought-provoking aspects at the moment that you could be turning into quite a philosopher. Partners should appreciate your wisdom, and you should enjoy their wit. A romantic connection should soon be restored, by the way, though perhaps not as expected.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Exciting developments are imminent socially. In fact, a romantic or emotional partnership that got off to a hesitant start will soon be brought back to life, much to your relief. Don't be lured into extravagant promises, at least not until you've seen the lie of the land.

Sporadic dengue cases in city, vector control necessary

Karnataka health department encourages people to 'Harness Partnership to defeat Dengue', advises precaution

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH Bengaluru witnessing early showers, there are reports of sporadic dengue cases, and the Karnataka health department has asked citizens to take precautionary measures to keep the disease at bay.

The department encouraged people to 'Harness Partnership to defeat Dengue', which is also the theme for the year 2023, on the occasion of National Dengue Day observed on May 16.

Dr SR Lakshmipathy, senior specialist paediatrician at KC General Hospital, said, "The cases seen at hospital are very irregular, three or four cases a week. Early showers in the state, coupled with unkept spaces, have provided favourable breeding conditions for the dengue virus, due to which a few cases are being reported."

Another doctor from Victoria Hospital said the situation was similar, with three or four cases coming in every week.

Health and Family Welfare department Commissioner D Randeep said, "The health department is implementing control measures with a special focus on remote and inaccessible areas, hilly regions and tribal areas. Along with control measures, we are creating wide awareness among the public on dengue and how the disease spreads."

He added that health personnel and ASHA workers are making door-to-door visits to reduce breeding grounds of the Aedes mosquito.

From January to May 2023, 1,716 dengue cases were reported in the state, with no deaths so far. While the state recorded over 17,000 cases in 2017, and over 18,000 cases in 2019, the number almost halved with over 7,000 cases in 2021 and 9,000 cases in 2022.

Though dengue cases are under control, the number of deaths is around 10 every year.

The health department has advised citizens to prevent accumulation of water, dispose of solid waste around the house periodically, and use mosquito nets, especially for children, pregnant women and the elderly, to avoid getting infected by the virus.

16 pvt hospitals along accident zones to join Ayushman scheme

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO provide better coverage of the 'Accident Victims Scheme', the state health department issued an order to empanel more private hospitals along the accident 'hotspot zone' across Karnataka.

Under the 'Accident Victims Scheme', empanelled hospitals will provide immediate and instant medical support and treatment to road accident victims 'free of cost' during the golden hour and up to 48 hours from the time of the accident, and are then allowed to claim up to Rs 1 lakh per victim for 76 emergency procedures listed by the health department.

"In the first phase, the scheme is being implemented under the ambit of Ayushman Bharat Arogya Karnataka scheme (AB-Ark), where the victims are treated only in empanelled hospitals. But it is necessary to map more hospitals along accident hotspots for timely intervention. Hence, the inclusion of non-empanelled private hospitals is essential to provide better coverage of the scheme.

"Presently, about 16 private medical establishments are yet to be empanelled under the Accident Victim Scheme," State health commissioner Randeep said, in the order dated May 11.

The order also stated that private hospitals are bound to be part of the scheme, according to Section 11 of the Karnataka Private Medical Establishment (KPME) Act, 2007.There are 25 accident hotspots in Bengaluru, Mysuru, Tumakuru, Mangaluru, Hubballi-Dharwad, Davangere, Belagavi, Kalaburagi, Ballari and Mandya.

Cyber crime up in B'luru, police warns of fake calls, texts

PURAN CHOUDHARY
@ Bengaluru

FROM January to May 15, 2023, Bengaluru recorded 3,140 cyber crimes. According to data shared by the Cyber Crime Division (CCD) of Bengaluru, in the past five months, a total of Rs 50,95,85,037 was marauded during various cyber crimes committed through messages and calls.

Ravindra K Gadadi, Deputy Commissioner, Command Centre, Bengaluru, told TNIE that CCD officials have so far recovered Rs 9,33,49,639. Of this, Rs 88,48,0373 is yet to be transferred to complainants' accounts and it will be held till investigations are complete. However, Rs 48,69,266 has been directly transferred to the accounts of the victims immediately after they filed complaints.

He said that individuals should be more vigilant of cyber crimes. "Nothing comes for free. So if someone is offering you free money, never take it at face value, and report the crime immediately," he added.

Gadadi stated, if money is debited illegally, the police needs to be intimated, who will then inform the associated banks and direct them to block the money. This is called 'Golden Hour' and is very crucial. Swift action by the complainant can avoid money being transferred by the accused to other accounts, which further delays the recovery process.

Experts said that such crimes can be easily noticed and traced. "Unusual activity on one's account, phishing messages, unexpected financial transactions and attempts to log in are some clues to follow," said Trishneet Arora, founder & CEO, TAC Security.

Gadadi observed that cyber crimes have become frequent in the city, and youngsters are often getting trapped. "Approach banks and get your doubts clarified, if any, regarding OTPs, links and SMS that say money has been debited or credited to your account and don't fall for fake messages," he warned.

As per the report, a large number of frauds have taken place via UPI (1853), followed by calls (783), internet banking (387), debit and credit cards (88), job offers (28) and cryptocurrency (1). Experts at TAC Security recommend there is a need for a multi-faceted approach to combat such crimes. Awareness, robust legislation and international liaisons between governments and private sectors were a few suggestions that help enterprises and governments from cybercrime.

55% OF MLAs FACE CRIMINAL CASES, 97% ARE CROREPATIS

122 candidates won the recent polls despite declaration of charges; Siddu has 13 cases, Shivakumar 19

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@Bengaluru

OF the winning candidates in Karnataka, 122 (55 per cent) had declared criminal cases filed against them, said the recently-released Association for Democratic Reforms (ADR) report.

The percentage of candidates winning with criminal cases saw a rise from 35 per cent in the 2018 assembly elections, to 55 per cent in 2023.

The Congress, that won 135 seats, topped the list, with 78 winning candidates having declared criminal cases, followed by Bharatiya Janata Party (34) and Janata Dal (Secular) (9). Further, 71 of the 122 candidates had declared serious criminal cases, like rape and attempt to murder.

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar, who is aspiring for the post of chief minister, topped the list with the highest assets (over Rs 1,413 crore) along with 19 criminal cases filed against him, including bribery, false evidence, causing disappearance of evidence and criminal conspiracy, the Association for Democratic Reforms release stated.

According to the report, former chief minister Siddaramaiah, who is also a candidate for the CM's post, has 13 criminal cases against him, which include bribery, undue influence in elections, rioting and being armed with deadly weapons.

Narayana A, of the School of Policy and Governance, Azim Premji University (APU), explained, "For political parties, winnability is a significant criteria during selection, even if it is at the cost of fielding candidates with criminal records. Usually, such candidates also have muscle power and financial backing, which becomes a significant reason for choosing them as prospective candidates."

Professor Trilochan Sastry from IIM-Bangalore, founder member of National Election Watch, ADR, said voters are also at fault for choosing such candidates. "Usually, citizens are ill-informed about candidates from their constituencies, and do not research their political and criminal backgrounds."

The ADR report also analysed that of those analysed, 97 per cent were crorepatis. Rajendra Chenni, a political analyst, also said, "money" is the most important "winnability" factor for political parties and they easily tend to ignore the ethical aspects while choosing candidates. Such people eventually build strong local clout and gain popularity by distributing freebies or personally interfering in local matters.

Most MLAs back Siddu considering electoral equations in their segments

RAMU PATIL @ Bengaluru

WHILE the impasse over the new chief minister continues, most newly elected Congress MLAs are said to have supported former CM and Varuna MLA Siddaramaiah during the secret ballot, considering electoral equations that could help them in their constituencies as well as their rapport with him.

Sources said Siddaramaiah's pan-Karnataka appeal and the strong support he enjoys from minorities, backward classes, and Dalits worked in his favour when the party leaders gathered newly elected MLAs' views through a secret ballot. Apart from MLAs' views, the party's central leadership is also looking at various other factors and trying to build consensus among the aspirants before taking a final call on the new chief minister of Karnataka.

Sources close to Siddaramaiah camp claimed that a majority of MLAs supported the former chief minister when the Central Congress observers gathered their views.

While Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president Shivakumar did stupendous work in terms of rebuilding the party after successive defeats, legislators need support from minorities, backward classes, and Dalits to win elections, and supporting Siddaramaiah will help them to get support from those communities, especially the support from the Kuruba community that has a significant presence in many segments, sources said.

However, some leaders within Congress dispute such claims. According to them, those communities back Congress and not any particular leader and Shivakumar played a key role in getting the support from Vokkaligas and Lingayats.

While the party is likely to take a final decision on the new CM after considering strengths and weaknesses of both the leaders as well as their contribution to the party and also keeping in mind the need to continue winning momentum till the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, stars have been shining on Siddaramaiah when the party was in power or opposition.

Siddaramaiah worked as Deputy chief minister twice before he joined Congress in 2006. He served as Leader of the Opposition in the Assembly twice after he joined Congress and completed a full five-year term as the chief minister from 2013 to 2018. His vast administrative experience and ability to take all leaders along are expected to work in his favor, while Shivakumar will be hoping that the high command will reward him for bringing the party to power with a thumping majority.

Kurubara Sangha bats for Siddaramaiah

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Pradesh Kurubara Sangha has demanded that former CM Siddaramaiah be made the CM. The forum stated that the efforts of Siddaramaiah and KPCC chief DK Shivakumar were the main reasons for the Congress' victory. "Siddaramaiah is the most eligible leader to bec-ome the CM as he was non-corrupt and delivered a good administration based on social justice," the forum said. "To continue the schemes introduced when he was CM and to implement schemes promised in the manifesto effectively, we request that he should be made CM. Also, to face the corrupt BJP in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections and to deliver an administration based on social justice, we urge that Siddaramaiah be made the CM," it added. ENS

Kharge likely to meet more MLAs to thrash out a compromise formula

ACCORDING to sources in the know, at least 35 MLAs in the secret ballot had chosen to leave the decision on the chief minister choice to the party high command.

The Congress high Command appears to be bidding for more time to placate Shivakumar to thwart any dissent within the party. Kharge on Wednesday is likely to meet more MLAs and stakeholders to thrash out a compromise formula. Though the leadership has floated the idea of 'rotational CM', it is learnt that both the leaders are against it and are looking at a full five-year term.

The day witnessed high-pitched political activities involving a series of meetings held at Kharge's residence in the capital. The first meeting of the day was kicked off with former Congress President Rahul Gandhi getting into a huddle with Kharge, AICC leaders KC Venugopal and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Surjewala. It was learnt that Rahul Gandhi put the onus on Karnataka's Congress stalwart Kharge to pick between the two leaders as the CM. It may be interesting to note here that Shivakumar shares a good rapport with AICC chief Kharge and had even claimed just before the assembly polls that he would be happy to work under Kharge as the CM.

While the Congress is wrestling with many challenges, the top leadership itself is divided in picking the chief minister choice.

According to sources, while Sonia Gandhi — who is resting in Shimla — is said to be in favour of Shivakumar, Rahul Gandhi wants a better representation of Dalits, women, and backward classes in the state, whose clout Siddaramaiah enjoys.

The party high command is faced with weighing various caste permutations and combinations as it does not want to upset the applecart in the run-up to the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, especial after Congress won a thumping victory at the recently conducted assembly polls wherein the party won 135 seats in the 224-member house.

While Siddharamaiah is largely viewed as a champion of social justice with pan-Karnataka appeal, Shivakumar enjoys popularity in urban pockets.

'I am capable too, but...', says Parameshwara

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SENIOR Congress leader and former DyCM Dr G Parameshwara has said that he is also capable of running the government but he wouldn't put pressure on the high command by taking along some MLAs with him.

While Siddaramaiah and DK Shivakumar are lobbying for the top post in Delhi, Parameshwara told reporters in Bengaluru on Tuesday that the even he was capable of running the government and there is no need to lobby, as he gives paramount importance to discipline in the party. "I have certain principles. I can also take some 50 MLAs and do the shouting demanding the CM's post. But, I won't do it as discipline is important. If people like us don't follow things, there won't be any discipline in the party," he said.

Noting that he has served as KPCC president for eight years during which the Congress came to power in 2013, Parameshwara said that the high command was aware of his service to the party and there was no need to tell them the same again. "I have faith in the high command. There is no need for me to ask for the post or lobby for it, and I'm quiet. That doesn't mean I'm incapable. If the party asks me to run the government, I will take up the responsibility," he clarified.

'Khuba tried to defeat me', says Chauhan, but minister denies

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@ Kalaburagi

IN a video that has gone viral, former minister and newly elected BJP MLA Prabhu Chauhan can be allegedly heard saying that Union Minister of State Bhagwanth Khuba tried to defeat him in the recent Assembly elections from Aurad in Bidar district.

A purported video of Chauhan blaming Khuba while speaking with mediapersons has gone viral. In the video, an emotional Chauhan can be heard saying that Khuba sent 300 people to Aurad to campaign against him. However, as people of Aurad blessed him, he was elected again, Chauhan was heard saying.

Khuba, however, has denied the charges. Speaking to TNIE over phone from Delhi, Khuba said, "If that was the case, why did he not air his grievances during the campaign?"

He said he strived for BJP's victory not just in Bidar but across the state. "BJP's tally doubled in Bidar — from 2 in 2018 to 4 in 2023," he said.

CONG POLL PROMISES

To migrate or not: Gadag labourers now in a dilemma

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

MIGRANT workers from Gadag are waiting for the new Congress government's announcement on implementation of its five guarantees to decide on whether to return to Bengaluru, Goa and other states for work or stay back in their respective villages.

Gadag is home to several tandas and hundreds of people from each tanda go to other cities in Karnataka and other states in search of employment. They came to Gadag to vote in the May 10 Assembly elections. Many migrants have now decided to stay back in Gadag if the new Congress government fulfils all the promises made in its manifesto.

"If we have daily MGNREGA work, we will get a steady income. Along with that, the government will give Rs 2,000 to each household. We don't have to pay for electricity and they have promised free bus travel and free ration. If we get all these facilities, there is no need to travel to other cities and states in search of employment," a labourer from Gadag told The New Indian Express.

PIC FOR REPRESENTATION ONLY

But some migrants feel that these promises could be mere poll gimmicks and the government will set some conditions to get the freebies. As a result, some of the workers have returned to their respective workplace. Local leaders, however, have asked the remaining migrants to wait for a while.

Lalappa Rathod from Lakshmeshwar said, "If we get all facilities in our cities or villages or tandas, why will we go elsewhere? If we get a daily job, free food, no electricity bill and Rs 2,000 per month, we will lead a happy life here. We are waiting for the announcement and if they start giving statements like those who have mobile phones are not eligible for the guarantees, we will go back to Goa."

A district official said they are trying to stop migration by giving more job cards to the residents under MGNREGA. "We cannot say what the new government will give, but if they give, we will create awareness and provide the same to all," the official added.

Industrial spirit led to deaths: DGP

Two suppliers surrender before TN police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Villupuram/Chennai

Tamil Nadu DGP C Sylendra Babu in a press release on Tuesday said it was consumption of industrial spirit that led to the deaths in Marakkanam and Maduranthagam and not spurious liquor as was initially suspected. Samples of the concoction sent for forensic examination proved that it was methanol-infused industrial spirit, the notesaid.

The statement also said the spirit sold in both places was bought from the same person – Ezhumalai of Puducherry. Police sources said Ezhumalai (51), a resident of Thattanchavady at Villianur in Puducherry, and his accomplice Barkadullah alias Raja (53) surrendered on Tuesday before the special team of Tamil Nadu police investigating the case. Based on Ezhumalai's statement, police also arrested Elayaraja, who is running a chemical factory in Porur in Chennai. Sources said Ezhumalai and Raja procured the industrial spirit from Elayaraja and supplied it to the local sellers in Maduranthagam and Marakkanam. Sources said police are taking steps to remand all the three key accused though no arrests have been officially declared yet.

As per the DGP's note, the person who sold the spirit in Marakkanam was identified as Amaran. The accused, who was arrested, told police that he got the spirit from Muthu, who in turn got it from Ezhumalai. Similarly, at Perambakkam and Perukkarani, police have arrested the supplier identified as Ammavasai. He too allegedly drank the spirit and is currently under treatment. He had confessed to the police that he bought the chemical from two people Velu and Chandran. Inquiries revealed that Velu had bought it from Rajesh, who got it from Viji, and Viji had bought it from Ezhumalai. A total of 18 people had died after consuming the brew over the past three days–13 from Marakkanam and five from Perambakkam and Perukkarani. The DGP on Tuesday ordered the two cases be transferred to the CB-CID.

On Tuesday, K Rajavelu (38) of Ekkiyarkuppam died in Government Villupuram Medical College Hospital, taking the death toll in Marakkanam to 13.

The wife of a 45-year-old man, who had died in Vellore on Monday, claimed that her husband too had died after consuming spurious liquor. Vellore police, however, refuted her allegations. Police said the man was epileptic and could have died due to the prevailing heatwave in the district.

Heatwave warning for K'buragi, Yadgir and Raichur districts

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@ Kalaburagi

FOLLOWING an alert from Karnataka State Natural Disaster Monitoring Cell, Kalaburagi, Yadgir and Raichur district administrations have issued a heat wave warning for three days from Tuesday.

The warning read that temperatures in these three districts will be above 40 degrees Celsius till Friday. Extended forecasts from KSNDM and IMD predict a heat wave will prevail for 14 days till May 30 with temperature over 40 degrees Celsius in Kalaburagi, Yadgir and Raichur districts. During this period, mercury may soar to 42 degrees Celsius, the warning said. Kalaburagi on Tuesday was sizzling at 40 degrees Celsius.

The district administration has also issued Dos and Don'ts guidelines for the heatwave, advising people to avoid going out between noon and 3.00 pm. Renowned academician Sangeeta Katimani has urged the government to declare Kalaburagi district as heatwave-hit district and prepare an action plan to combat the perils of heat wave.

Wet-bulb temperature

Sangeeta Kattimani has also urged the government to create awareness on Wet-bulb temperature. The adiabatic evaporation of water from the thermometer and the cooling effect is indicated by a wet-bulb thermometer, by factoring in heat and humidity level.

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@ Chennai

FOR the first time in six years, maximum temperature in Chennai crossed 42 degree Celsius with the Meenambakkam observatory clocking 42.7 degree Celsius on Tuesday. The maximum temperature, which was 4.3 degree Celsius above normal, triggered an unprecedented heatwave-like condition in Chennai and its suburbs. Nungambakkam observatory recorded 41.8 degree Celsius, which was 4.4 degrees above normal. The maximum temperature in Chennai had last breached 42 degree Celsius in May in 2017.

P Senthamarai Kannan, scientist from the regional meteorological centre, said the temperature will continue to be above normal by 2.4 degrees at isolated pockets across the state till May 18. In Chennai, it will hover around 41 degree Celsius.

Although, IMD officially declares heat wave only when the departure from normal is 4.5 degrees to 6.4 degrees above normal for at least two consecutive days, experts say there are local pockets which are already enduring heat wave-like conditions. For instance, as per the official information available on the IMD website, the automatic weather station (AWS) in Tirur KVK in Tiruvallur has recorded a maximum temperature of 43.6, which was five degrees above normal.

Similarly, automatic rain gauge stations in Chembrambakkam and ACS medical college in Kancheepuram have recorded temperatures in excess of 43 degree Celsius.

Mahesh Palawat, vice-president, meteorology and climate change at Skymet, told TNIE the dry inland north-westerlies blowing from Rayalaseema belt, which is already enduring severe heat wave, into coastal Tamil Nadu is stopping the sea breeze from setting in early and is fuelling the discomforting heat. "There may be some respite in the next 3 to 4 days with weather models showing some revival of easterlies," he said.

Arsenic closely associated with dietary intake, particularly rice: Researchers

"THE study found children and young adults in Bengaluru having greater difficulties in their brains than those living in the flood plains of the Himalayas because of the former's rice eating habits," said Benegal.

According to the researchers arsenic was found to be closely associated with dietary intake, particularly rice consumption.

A naturally occurring chemical element arsenic may be found in food, including rice and some fish, due to its presence in soil or water.

It is not possible to remove arsenic entirely from the environment or food supply.

"The detrimental effects of arsenic exposure were amplified by other risk factors such as malnutrition and poverty. Participants from economically disadvantaged backgrounds and those with a low body mass index (BMI) were identified as being at an increased risk of experiencing the negative effects of arsenic exposure. The implications of the findings of the study are significant for public health policies and practices, especially in regions where rice is a dietary staple and socio-economic status is low, like many parts of Asia. Simple cooking methods to flush arsenic out of rice and low-cost filters for arsenic and iron from contaminated water are available but rarely used," said the principal investigator.

He added: "These insights can offer policymakers and public health officials a fresh perspective on the risks tied to low-level arsenic exposure, assisting in the development and deployment of effective interventions."

The research study is funded by the Indian Council of Medical Research and the Medical Research Council (UK) and published in the Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) and Network Open.

The mela in Bengaluru was organised by the Department of Posts, in coordination with the Ministry of Home, Ministry of Railways, Nimhans, Ministry of Labour and Employment and Controller of Communication Accounts.

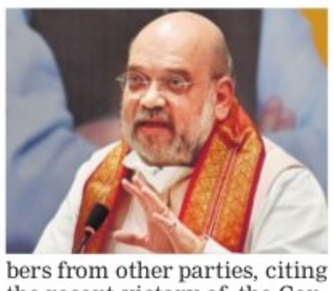
Joshi appealed to the Congress to form the government at the earliest and fullfil the demands of the people. On the future course of action of the BJP, Joshi said the party will introspect on what and how things need to be done. He said that the party has already expressed that the results were most disappointing for the BJP. But such things happen in elections and now we have to find the reason for it. The party has not taken the defeat lightely and instead has taken it as a challenge. He added that the party was gearing up for the Lok Sabha elections of 2024.

K'taka result has impacted joinings: Eatala to Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

BJP MLA and party's "joinings committee" chairman Eatala Rajender on Tuesday met Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi and discussed the current state of the party and the potential impact of the Karnataka Assembly election results on the BJP in Telangana.

According to sources, Rajender had also met with Shah late on Monday to deliberate on the party's present situation and strategise accordingly. The MLA reportedly expressed concerns about the dwindling prospects of attracting new members from other parties, citing the recent victory of the Congress in Karnataka as a contributing factor. He highlighted that several leaders who had shown interest in joining the BJP prior to the Karnataka results are now reconsidering their decision.



Sources revealed that Rajender presented various issues to Shah during their meeting, particularly regarding joinings and the assurances given to aspiring members at the time of their induction. Additionally, he shared the opinions of several prominent leaders within the party who are advocating for a change in the State leadership to strengthen the BJP by attracting leaders from other parties.

It is believed that Rajender submitted a letter to the BJP high command, co-signed by 10 influential leaders who joined the party after the 2018 Assembly elections.

In the letter, they urged for a change in leadership, specifically requesting the opportunity for another leader from the Backward Classes (BC) community to lead the party in upcoming Assembly elections. The letter also emphasised that failure to change the leadership would severely hamper the BJP's ability to compete against the ruling BRS and the Congress.

Meanwhile, dissidents within the BJP eagerly wait for Rajender to return and disclose the outcome of his meeting with Shah. They are believed to take a decision on their future course of action after hearing Rajender.

Ex-PM VP Singh's granddaughter files case against Balangir royal family

NARENDRA SETHI
@ Dehradun/Bhubaneswar

ADRIJA Manjari Singh, the grand daughter of former PM Vishwanath Pratap Singh, has filed a complaint with the State DGP, accusing her in-laws of domestic violence and assault. Adrija is also upset that being a woman, she did not get the help she should have received from the police.

Director General of Police Ashok Kumar has ordered Senior Superintendent of Police Dilip Singh Kunwar to investigate the matter. SSP Kunwar told this daily, "All aspects of the case are being investigated, it will be possible to say anything only after the statements of all concerned". Sharing her ordeal with the media, Adrija Manjari Singh said, "I was married to Aarkesh Narayan Singh Deo, who belongs to the Balangir royal family of Odisha, on November 23, 2017.

This was followed by assembly elections in Orissa. Manjari Singh said, "Every husband and wife have a bit of discord, but when my mother was diagnosed with cancer and when I asked to meet my mother, my in-laws unnecessarily interrupted me and didn't let me go". Manjari, the granddaughter of the former prime minister, also said, "When the tortures increased day by day and then finally on Saturday, May 13, the matter escalated to such a level that some women were sent by husband Arkesh to kill me". Manjari also alleged that her in-laws were forcing her to get a mutual divorce.

SEBI PROBE INTO ADANI GROUP NOW TIED IN KNOTS

Unfortunately, after short-seller Hindenburg's alleged 'accounting fraud' and 'stock manipulation' by the Adani Group, the official probe into the Group's companies is itself getting tied in knots. Contradictory statements by the government and market watchdog Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) regarding how long the latter has been investigating the Adani Group has provoked a new controversy. In response to a public interest litigation (PIL), the Supreme Court initially gave SEBI two months to complete its investigation. However, SEBI recently pleaded for an extension of six months since the job was 'complex'. Lawyer Prashant Bhushan, arguing the PIL, replied that SEBI should be denied the extension since it had been probing the group since 2016. He based this plea on a statement made in Parliament in July 2021 by the Union Minister of State for Finance, Pankaj Chaudhary. Denying Bhushan's statement, SEBI has now filed an affidavit that there has been no probe since 2016.

Seizing on the contradictory positions of SEBI and the Union government, Opposition spokespersons have gone to town alleging a 'soft' approach vis-à-vis the Adani Group. The situation has become curious, with the Union finance ministry reiterating that the Adani Group has, in fact, been probed by SEBI since 2016 on compliance with regulations. Some corporate groups have meanwhile questioned SEBI's neutrality. If the apex court-appointed panel headed by Justice A M Sapre on the Adani imbroglio could file its report by May 8, why was SEBI dragging its feet, they have asked.

Fortunately for SEBI, the Supreme Court did not have time to hear the matter on Monday and has deferred it by two months when the court reassembles after the summer break. These two months should be used to settle the disquiet on the Adani imbroglio. The SEBI is an autonomous body that functions under the aegis of the finance ministry and, as stated in its preamble, its object is "... to protect the interests of investors in securities and to promote the development of, and to regulate the securities market..." The charges made by the Hindenburg report are serious and wiped out $140 billion of the Adani Group's market value. There should be no delay by SEBI in answering those investors who lost money. Moreover, since there are two versions of the length of the SEBI probe into the Adani Group, the government needs to clarify which version is correct.

TAMIL NADU MUST END ILLICIT LIQUOR MENACE

The death of 20 people in Tamil Nadu after they consumed illicit liquor containing methanol is an indictment of law enforcement in the state. Only recently, Chief Minister M K Stalin mentioned that there had been no deaths due to illicit liquor in Tamil Nadu in nearly 15 years. Indeed, data from the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) show that Tamil Nadu recorded no deaths due to consumption of spurious liquor in 2016–19 before recording 20 deaths in 2020 and six in 2021. While deaths after the consumption of hooch are considered common in states where prohibition is in force, such deaths reported in Tamil Nadu, where government-run retail outlets are common and liquor is easily accessible, is shocking.

The notion of the government controlling the sale of liquor is that it also controls the consumption of a hazardous substance. This is done by restricting the times when liquor is available and at what cost—TN raised prices last year through a hike in excise duty. (This is aside from liquor being a major source of revenue for the government).

However, such restrictions only work when supported by effective law enforcement that prevents the production and distribution of illicit or spurious liquor. In the present incident affecting people in two districts that police said were linked by a common supplier, industrial spirit with toxic methanol was found to have been sold to the people at throwaway prices. Following the deaths, police have started a crackdown on illicit liquor. Yet, affected villagers pointed out that the sale of hooch was an open secret and asked why the police had not cracked down on the vendors before the tragedy. It is a valid question, and the speedy action against several police personnel in the past two days may hint at the answer.

However, the responsibility for such avoidable deaths does not lie only at the feet of local cops, and the action against those complicit should not end with them. The current crackdown should not be an eyewash; rather, the government should muster the political will to use the opportunity and end the menace of spurious liquor in the state.

QUICK TAKE

AIMING TO INSURE ALL

Insurance for all by 2047 may have truly kicked off from Kalangummukal ward in Kerala's Kollam district. All its residents have insurance thanks to a local councillor's initiative—he contributed half the total premium. Making this a national reality requires a public-private effort to insure the millions of barely above-BPL families a medical bill away from poverty, unorganised labourers and migrants not yet under Ayushman Bharat, and the lower middle classes who cannot afford hospitalisation charges. The insurance narrative must be re-oriented to the micro-insurance market. Government funding for insurance programmes must grow, and partnerships with private companies should cover the poorest segments.

People see Ranil Wickremesinghe as a man holding the proverbial tiger's tail, unable to find alternatives to resurrect the island's economy beyond borrowing from multilaterals

A YEAR AFTER GOTA'S OUSTER, LANKA STILL NOT OUT OF WOODS

DILRUKSHI HANDUNNETTI

Award-winning journalist and lawyer. She is a founder and director of the Colombo-based Center for Investigative Reporting (CIR)

SOUMYADIP SINHA

May 9 marked a watershed moment in Sri Lankan political history. It was the first anniversary of an elected president's unceremonious ouster through a public uprising. It brought the powerful Rajapaksas to their knees, though temporarily, and highlighted the island's governance crisis which resulted in an unprecedented financial crisis—the worst in the country's post-Independence era.

A year ago, there was hope that the angry public protests that spilled onto the streets of Colombo had driven a vital point home: politicians should be held accountable. A year later, it is business as usual. It is almost as if the protests never happened, and the public never questioned the governance failure and corruption that caused the island's economic collapse.

A year later, Sri Lanka is still struggling to come out of the woods, both economically and politically. The island today is home to millions who are disenchanted with the political tribe and are trying to leave their island of despair. There is nothing that generates a sense of hope or provides a reason to stay and contribute, despite a façade of normalcy that prevails.

This should have been the year for laying the groundwork for a resilient economy and restoring public faith in the presidency and legislature. There is unprecedented public outrage towards how the state is administered. People are angry that the lesson is not learnt, as the political elite turn a blind eye to the demands for systemic change. They find their demands crushed under the jackboots of the political elite. Meanwhile, one president was conveniently replaced by another, and the older order survived.

The incumbent president has brought the volatile situation under control. He has introduced a semblance of normalcy, ended the miles-long queues for fuel and food, put an end to the power cuts, and convinced the International Monetary Fund (IMF) to offer an Extended Fund Facility (EFF) for the island to come out of the current economic morass. A year later, Sri Lanka still finds itself bound by the old chains of borrowing from multilaterals and is on a short-term borrowing spree.

Sri Lanka is yet to develop a financial model to generate revenue, service the massive debts, and ensure essential supplies to the public. For this reason, people see Ranil Wickremesinghe as a man holding the proverbial tiger's tail, unable to find alternative methods to resurrect the economy beyond borrowing from multilaterals.

There is little appreciation among the large majority for the kind of "normalcy" he has introduced, for it is founded on a policy of cracking down on protesters and curbing dissent. For this, laws are being drawn up, such as the counter terror law, and the provisions of the Prevention of Terrorism Act (PTA) and the Penal Code are unrepentantly used to forcefully gain the public's silence.

A year later, Sri Lanka finds a president not elected by a popular vote but using all available tools to consolidate his power. There are lofty pledges to introduce transparent and accountable governance, South Asia's best anti-corruption law, and reforms that befit a modern state. But the public expectations of President Wickremesinghe are significantly low. For starters, he is viewed as a western agent lacking the foresight and creativity to lead Sri Lanka out of the current crisis through a new policy, not the tried and failed IMF road. People view the EFF as a reckless step that only contributes to increasing an insurmountable burden of existing external debt. Besides, he is mistrusted for lacking the independence to drive vital political reforms due to his reliance on the Sri Lanka Podujana Peramuna (SLPP) for support. So far, the Rajapaksas appear to be supportive of the economic agenda he pushes, but there's hardly any possibility that Wickremesinghe would be free to drive political reforms of the kind expected by the public, complete with strong anti-grant laws that could result in jail terms and assets recovery. Clearly, the Rajapaksas have their own expectations from the incumbency: to protect their interests in exchange for the presidency.

A year on, the reintroduction of the Rajapaksa project is in full swing, and the Rajapaksas are even making appearances from time to time, playing the victim card. They make flippant comments about the people's protests and disregard the reasons that fuelled public outrage, ultimately bringing the powerful Rajapaksas down. There are no apologies. Instead, their ouster is portrayed as a failure of democracy. There is no offer to reflect on the mistakes and address the governance crisis. Instead, they repeat the mantra that Wickremesinghe was brought in to fix the economy and bring under control the "undemocratic public uprising" that forced Gotabaya Rajapaksa to resign and flee.

If public sentiments are not in his favour, as a recent poll has shown, Wickremesinghe is likely to form a political alliance with the SLPP to face the next set of elections. Collectively, they would brag about restoring law and order and essential supplies, and getting a breather through the IMF facility. In the next round of elections, Sri Lanka is destined to see a convenient but unholy alliance that keeps Wickremesinghe and the SLPP in one camp. Come presidential elections, it is likely that Basil Rajapaksa, possibly the most disliked Rajapaksa, will be Wickremesinghe's running mate. This may not deliver the desired political result but will help the Rajapaksas keep power very close—and within the family.

What could possibly work in Wickremesinghe's favour is the lack of solution-oriented politics in the island. Not that Wickremesinghe's formula is a winning one, but the lack of alternatives offered by the key contenders, the National People's Power (NPP) and the Samagi Jana Balawegaya (SJB), may frustrate the constituency. Except for fire-breathing criticism, Wickremesinghe has not been met with an agenda for reforms, or faced with leaders who are willing to take on the task.

If the Rajapaksas are playing the waiting game a year after the unceremonious ouster of Gotabaya, his successor is on a crafty mission to consolidate his power. How he fares and meets public aspirations will become evident in the coming months. How he delivers will determine his political future as well as that of his United National Party (UNP).

THE REVOLVING DOORS OF OIL POLITICS

RANJAN TANDON

Senior markets specialist and author

Peace, commerce, and honest friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none – Thomas Jefferson

The making of a great nation is not just mature politics and good economics but how well the two are coordinated. An 'energetic' outlook is the clear winner in the present politico-economic turbulence. The 1971 Indo-Soviet Treaty intended to provide strategic autonomy to India in a polarised world. Though the Treaty is now history as much as the Soviet Union is, the 1993 Indo-Russian Friendship Treaty paved the way for a relatively unorthodox trade understanding between the two.

The Ukraine war-induced G7 sanctions were feared to cast a shadow on this 'cordiality'. It was not to be so. Oil slipped in to provide succour! With a mere 1% share in India's crude oil imports before the Ukraine conflict, Russian oil constituted 34% of the import basket in March 2023.

While the Urals comprised 80% of India's Russian oil imports in January 2023, it fell to 70% in March, expressive of contracting imports from Russia. In reality, Russia continued as the top supplier in April, with a 36% share in India's oil imports, compensating with higher components of ESPO Blend, Navy Port Light and Siberian Light (the sweeter grades). Despite enjoying a price advantage, sour crudes lose on refining costs due to high sulphur content. Sweeter grades with a much lower sulphur content facilitate efficient, cost-effective refining and better throughput. Aware of the preference for low-sulphur crude, Russia upped quality control last year by modifying Urals blend via production curbs on specific high sulphur-content oil fields.

Since this January, most of India's oil imports from Russia have been denominated in UAE dirhams and Russian roubles. The existing rupee-rouble arrangement is already under strain due to rising imports, especially fertilisers, which have shown a 3.4 times jump in 2022. A fall in India's exports to Russia has led to a vast trade surplus favouring the latter. This could dent India's oil imports as Moscow is reluctant to hold a large inventory of Indian rupees.

With Sino-Russia relations warming amid evolving trade links since the beginning of this year, almost the entire import bill of China from Russia, mostly comprising crude, is now settled in yuan. China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC), the State energy giant, is rumoured to have agreed with Gazprom, a global oil and gas company headquartered in Moscow, to receive pipeline gas against yuan and rouble payment. China already receives ESPO blend from Rosneft through the East Siberia-Pacific Ocean pipeline under an intergovernmental accord. Refineries within Russia are subject to maintenance during May, resulting in lower domestic demand, which leaves higher stocks for export. This prompted Chinese refiners to seek cheaper Urals from Russia, and the import of discounted oil touched a record high.

AFP

It would be erroneous to interpret any fall in the import of oil from Russia as an aspersion on Indo-Russian relations. The rising Chinese demand has emboldened Russian suppliers to discontinue offers of heavily discounted oil to India

Russian oil, a staple feed of China's teapots (small independent refineries in China) since the Ukraine crisis, is now cornered by State-owned and large private refiners. These smaller refiners, mostly based around Shandong province and accounting for one-fifth of crude imports, are thus turning to Iran and other Middle East fields. Earlier in the year, Beijing had mooted Saudi oil imports to be settled in local currency (The Shifting Sands of Oil Economies - TNIE, May 9, 2023). With higher prices and low margins, a slowing run rate (crude processed relative to total capacity) is imminent at Chinese teapots, compelling some to request lower volumes from Saudi Aramco in June. Aware of these developments and anticipating more crude to hit the market as Russian refineries go into maintenance, Aramco announced minor price reductions on Arab Light while offering bigger cuts on prices of Arab Medium and Arab Heavy grades for June supplies to Asia. The move could benefit India.

But as more Asian buyers go into shutdowns for periodic maintenance in the remaining two quarters, it could renew the strain on oil prices as demand moderates. Thus, the topic of trimming production could figure again at the scheduled meeting of OPEC+ in Vienna on June 4, creating a Catch 22 situation. This time, the cut could involve broader fraternity participation.

In the current scenario, it would be erroneous to interpret any fall in the import of oil from Russia as an aspersion on Indo-Russian relations. The rising Chinese demand has emboldened Russian suppliers to discontinue offers of heavily discounted oil to India. Russia surpassed Saudi Arabia as China's top supplier of crude in the first quarter of 2023 and, in a bid to retain dominance, may continue to offer oil at a competitive price while accepting payment in yuan. Despite more oil finding its way into Sino territory, a deep tightening of supplies to India is not foreseen as Russia would simultaneously try to maintain its significance in India's oil market.

Iraq is keen to regain its lead in Indian imports and offered to negotiate discounted prices earlier in the year. Saudi Arabia, enthusiastic about its growing trade ties with India, could offer 'bargains'. While moving into a surplus zone, the US may increase its share in the Indian basket, buckling under global competition. As the world's third-largest oil consumer and a significant participant in the mutating oil politics, India continues to explore options and entice other non-OPEC+ producers, especially in Latin America and the Caribbean. A lot would rest on how India plays its cards in the intriguing game of oil.

Telangana politics

The Congress' win in Karnataka is a case study for all parties. But in Telangana, BJP is giving importance to Hindutva at the cost of local issues. Congress is maintaining groupism and will allocate tickets accordingly. The ruling BRS is using shortcuts like formation celebrations to remind people of its sacrifices for the Telangana cause. But price rise is the major problem for the common man.

Congress secularism

In our country, the import of the concept of "secularism" is not absolute but is warped, depending on the theme the respective parties pursue to win the majority mandate in the polls. It is hasty to conclude that the vote for Congress in Karnataka is a vote for secular values. It is for "Congress Secularism" only, and not in its etymological sense.

Showing reality

Apropos of The Kerala Story: Demands seeking its ban baseless (May 16). I agree with Surya Prakash. The movie is an attempt to show the conspiracy of terrorist groups to convert Hindu/Christian girls to Islam. To demand a ban on it is like blaming a teacher for teaching what is written in the book.

With reference to When a young lad helped himself to some puttu (May 15), it is very heartwarming that a small but very important festival celebrated in Madurai finds a place in TNIE's editorial page. ### Death row

While the Centre plans for an alternative to hanging, it is heartening to learn that HC orders 'mitigation investigation' of two convicts on death row (May 16). The dignity does not lie in the manner of putting convicts to death; any method is savage. The damage due to the crime is done but any convict deserves to reform and has the right to live. That would improve deterrence levels too.

After ALH Dhruv, Army & IAF ground light combat copter

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Indian Air Force (IAF) and Army have grounded their Light Combat Helicopters (LCH) which are named as Prachanda. Sources in the IAF said the machines are undergoing checks and procedures as prescribed by the manufacturer HAL.

"Our machine was grounded post the accident of the ALH Dhruv which crashlanded on May 4," said a source in the Army.

The helicopter crashlanded in Jammu and Kashmir's Kishtwar district after the pilots reported a technical fault to the air traffic control. This was the third such incident and for the second time in less than two months that the army has grounded the ALH fleet.

The accident had led to the loss of life of a soldier and the two pilots were injured.

LCH is a variant of ALH. The Army and the IAF operate five LCH each.

The Army had inducted its first of the 95 LCH in September 2022 and the unit is designated for mountain combat role. The Indian Air Force inducted its first unit of the indigenous LCH at Jodhpur in Rajasthan in October last year.

The source in the HAL said that the machine has been tested thoroughly in various climatic conditions, including the high altitude and cold climate of the Siachen.

Light Combat Helicopter Limited Series Production (LSP) is an indigenously designed, developed and manufactured state-of-the-art modern combat helicopter containing approximately 45% indigenous content by value which will progressively rise to more than 55% for SP Version, said the Defence ministry.

The helicopter is powered by a twin Shakti Engine and has a range of 500 km and a maximum speed of 268 kmph. It is compatible for high-altitude deployment with the capability to take off and land at about 5000 metre (16,400 feet).

It should be noted that the IAF is in the process of finalising the number of light combat helicopters to be procured. These choppers may replace the ageing Russian Mi-25 and Mi-35 attack choppers.

The Cabinet Committee on Security (CCS) in March 2022 approved the procurement of 15 Light Combat Helicopter (LCH) Limited Series Production at the cost of ₹3,887 crores along with Infrastructure sanctions worth Rs. 377 crores. Of these, 5 light combat helicopters are to be inducted into the Indian Army.

Collegium recommends 2 names as SC judges

K V Vishwanathan in line to become 58th CJI in Aug 2030; Andhra HC CJ Prashant Kumar Mishra to be elevated

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

PURSUANT to the retirement of SC judges Dinesh Maheshwari and MR Shah, the Supreme Court collegium on Tuesday recommended the elevation of Andhra Pradesh HC chief justice Prashant Kumar Mishra and senior advocate KV Vishwanathan as SC judges.

"The Supreme Court of India has a sanctioned strength of thirty-four Judges and is presently functioning with thirty-two judges. Thus, there are two clear vacancies. With four more vacancies, which are going to arise by the second week of July, the working strength of judges would come to twenty-eight. The collegium has, however, unanimously resolved to recommend, for the present, names to fill up the two existing vacancies," collegium resolution signed by CJI DY Chandrachud, justices SK Kaul, KM Joseph, Ajay Rastogi and Sanjiv Khanna stated.

Senior Advocate KV Vishwanathan's name has been recommended considering that there is only one member from the bar (justice PS Narasimha), who has been directly appointed to SC, and his appointment would enhance the representation of bar in SCs composition. If appointed, senior advocate Vishwanathan, pursuant to the retirement of Justice JB Pardiwala as CJI on August 11, 2030, would be in line to be at the SCs helm till May 25, 2031.

"Viswanathan has appeared in a range of cases including Constitutional law, criminal law, commercial law, the law of Insolvency, and Arbitration. His stature as an eminent member of the Bar has been recognised by the Supreme Court in numerous cases where he was appointed to assist the Court as amicus curiae," the resolution stated.

SC flays ED, asks it not to create atmosphere of fear

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday rapped the Enforcement Directorate (ED), saying that the probe agency should not create an atmosphere of fear. The criticism came after the court was informed that the ED is "running amok" and is attempting to implicate Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel into the money laundering case linked to alleged Rs 2,000-crore liquor scam in the state.

"The ED is running amok. They are threatening excise officers. It is a shocking state of affairs. Now, elections are coming and that is why it is happening," senior advocate Kapil Sibal appearing for the state told a bench of justices SK Kaul and A Amanullah.

Denying the allegations, additional solicitor general SV Raju told the bench that the agency was probing the scam in the case.

Considering the contentions, the bench said, "Even a bonafide cause becomes suspect when you behave like this. Don't create an atmosphere of fear." It also asked the ED to file its response in the application preferred by the Chhattisgarh government.

The remarks were made while the bench was considering a plea filed by two Chhattisgarh-based persons, one of whom has been arrested by the ED in connection with the case. The plea had challenged the initiation of proceedings by the ED. The Chattisgarh government in the plea had filed an impleadment application wherein they had contended that officers belonging to excise department had complained levelling allegations of mental and physical torture by ED officers during the course of the probe.

India slams UN's prejudiced remark on G20 in Srinagar

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA has snubbed the UN special rapporteur (SR) on minority issues, who questioned India hosting G20 meeting in Srinagar which, he alleged, was a denial of democratic rights of Kashmiri minorities.

"We India at the UN in Geneva strongly reject the statement issued by SR on minority issues, Dr Fernand de Varennes, on the baseless and unwarranted allegations in it. As G20 president, it is India's prerogative to host its meetings in any part of the country. We are aghast that Fernand has acted irresponsibly to politicise this issue, misused his position as SR to publicise on social media his presumptive and prejudiced conclusions in a gross violation of the Code of Conduct for SRs," said India at UN.

The SR has made allegations that India is attempting to show that situation as normal in Kashmir. "Holding a G20 meeting in Kashmir while human rights violations are ongoing...," special rapporteur has alleged.

He went on to further state that G20 should be used to uphold human rights. "G20 should on the contrary uphold 'International human rights obligations and the UN declaration of human rights should be upheld and the situation in Jammu and Kashmir should be decried and condemned not pushed under the rug and ignored with the holding of the meeting," SR added.

We India at the UN in Geneva strongly reject the statement issued by special rapporteur (SR) on minority issues, Dr Fernand de Varennes... We are aghast that Fernand has acted irresponsibly to politicise this issue, misused his position on social media his prejudiced conclusions in a violation of Code of Conduct

India at UN

India has the ongoing presidency of G20 under which it is hosting over 200 meetings across different states across the country.

The upcoming G20 meeting in Srinagar (May 22-24th) had earlier elicited a comment by Pakistani foreign minister Bilawal Bhutto during his visit for the SCO meet in Goa. External affairs minister S Jaishankar had issued a befitting rebuttal.

"Jammu and Kashmir was, in and will always be an integral part of India and we are free to host whatever events we want to in our territory," the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) has always maintained.

The UN Special Rapporteur alleged that the government is "seeking to normalise what some have described as a military occupation by instrumentalising a G20 meeting.

Dhaka withdraws extra security cover for top Indian diplomats

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

LESS than a week after external affairs minister S Jaishankar's visit, Bangladesh has withdrawn the "extra security escort" provided to top diplomats of India the UK, the US and Saudi Arabia.

Bangladesh's foreign minister AK Abdul Momen on Tuesday termed the service redundant, costly, and discriminatory. The extra security escort included policemen equipped with riot gear used in their vans for the envoys of India during their movements in the city and an intensified security vigil for them. The extra security was enforced following the July 1, 2016 Islamist militant attack in a posh Dhaka restaurant which killed 20 people.

The victims included an Indian girl and 16 other foreigners. The other foreigners killed included Japanese and Italian nationals.

"The additional security protocol we were providing to ambassadors and high commissioners of some particular countries has been withdrawn. But the normal security measures for them are in place," according to the Dhaka Metropolitan Police.

However, the police gunmen will continue to accompany the envoys during their movements and the personnel from the designated police unit guarding the chancery complexes and residences of senior diplomats will also remain as usual.

The Ministry of External Affairs refrained from making any comments on this issue. The foreign minister said that the existing law and order no longer required additional security measures for a few envoys and the decision to withdraw the extra protocols was taken as several embassies other than the four were demanding identical security rituals.

Interestingly, not long back when the Indian ambassador to Bangladesh Pranay K Verma had gone to call on Minister Momen when he assumed charge in Dhaka, Momen had said that India's relation with Dhaka was 'solid and unique.' "India is a significant and most important neighbour," Momen had said.

Meanwhile, the Public Diplomacy Section of the US embassy here in a statement said: "The safety and security of our diplomatic personnel and facilities are of the utmost importance. In accordance with longstanding policy, we do not disclose security details concerning the US Embassy. As per the Vienna Convention, the host country must uphold its obligations to ensure the protection of all diplomatic missions and personnel."

MANAGE MANIPUR CONFLICT WITH SOFT GLOVES AND TACT

PATRICIA MUKHIM
EDITOR, THE SHILLONG TIMES

MANIPUR is well known for uprisings against the British. The Kuki Rebellion of 1917-1919), the Zeliangrong Naga uprising 1930-32 and the anti-British women's movement – the Nupilan (1930-40), were all uprisings against the British. In 1907 the British decided to hand over charge of the state to Raja Churachand by constituting a Darbar headed by the Raja as President, called the Manipur State Darbar formed under the Rules for the General Administration of the State (RFGAS). The British, known for their chicanery, separated the administration of the hills occupied by the Naga, Kuki and other tribes from the valley. The hills were under the charge of the Vice President of the Manipur State Darbar, a British officer with little scope for the Raja to interfere in the administration. The British argued that the hill tribes differed from the valley-based Meiteis and had very different customs, languages and ethnicities. This sowed the seeds for the present dissension between the people of the hills and the valley (Source: Understanding Conflict in Manipur: A Socio-Historical Perspective by Veronica Khangchian).

At the time of India's independence, there were 565 princely states in India, of which Manipur was one. In September 1949, Maharaja Bodhchandra Singh signed the Instrument of Accession to India. Manipur became a Union Territory in 1962 and a full-fledged state in 1972. However, the seeds of inherent distrust sowed by the British and the largely incongruent ethnicities – the Kuki-Zo-Paite – Naga- Meitei- ensured they could never learn to live together in harmony. The situation is made worse by the fact that about 67 per cent of the population lives in 10 per cent of the geographical area of Manipur, while the rest 33 per cent live in the hills, which constitute 90 per cent of the total land mass of Manipur.

The Nagas and Meiteis feel that the Kukis are interlopers from the Chin hills of Burma, which is a fact. Still, having lived in those hills from the early 18th century, they can no longer be considered migrants and certainly not 'illegal migrants' as they are being made out to be. It is true that after Myanmar regressed into military rule, many Kuki-Chin people from Myanmar took shelter in Kuki-inhabited areas. What makes things convoluted here is that India has no national law on refugees. India refused to sign the 1951 Refugee Convention. This leaves a staggering 250,000 recognised refugees in a legally grey area. India urgently needs a Refugee Policy.

While people of the same ethnic and kinship ties from Myanmar keep arriving in small numbers both in Manipur and Mizoram, there is no definite plan for their return. Their absorption into the two states would pose a problem of already scarce resources. India's North Eastern states were not created on the basis of their economic viability. They were all created out of political exigencies. Hence unregulated population growth is problematic. However, there are ways of resolving these issues. Mizoram seems to be more transparent in handling the Myanmar refugees. Manipur does not seem to have a handle on this.

THE HILL TRIBES OF MANIPUR HAVE HAD AN ONGOING GROUSE AGAINST WHAT THEY CALL THE MEITEI-LED GOVERNMENT, WHICH INVESTS A LARGE PART OF ITS RESOURCES IN THE VALLEY, WHILE THE HILLS ARE LEFT IN THE LURCH WITH VERY LITTLE INFRASTRUCTURE

What is also problematic is the resistance by the Manipur government to devolve power to the Hill Areas Councils (HAC) and give them 6th Schedule status so that they have governance autonomy. From the very beginning, the Government of Manipur has been playing fast and loose by not empowering the tribal councils and allowing them to plan out their development framework. Here the role of the 20 MLAs from the hill areas must also be questioned. For 21 years, the hills had boycotted the elections to the Councils because they were not given adequate powers. This should have been a critical election agenda, but it did not become a point of convergence for the hill tribes. Is this because the Naga, Kuki and other tribal MLAs cannot sit together to show solidarity that will challenge the Government in Imphal?

The recent government intrusion into the forest lands of the Kuki tribes in a bid to turn them into reserved forests and wildlife sanctuaries is a sore point since the tribes believe they own the hills and forests. The Manipur government also evicted villagers of K Songjang village, saying they had newly created villages much after the Indian Forest Act of 1927 and its subsequent amendments.

There are allegations that Chief Minister N Biren Singh wants to expand the area under marijuana cultivation to legalise it for medicinal and industrial use and drastically reduce the area under poppy cultivation. The area under poppy cultivation in the hills decreased from 6742 acres in 2021 to 1,118 acres in 2022.

The hill tribes of Manipur have had an ongoing grouse against what they call the Meitei-led government, which invests a large part of its resources in the valley, while the hills are left in the lurch with very little infrastructure and not even good roads. All major institutions of learning are based in Imphal. This governance deficit is sure to create animosity and a sense of deep frustration. Why do we wonder then when violence becomes the strategy of choice? Where do the tribals take their disaffection to? Who listens to them? Where are the conflict management platforms where they can at least voice their grievances and let out pressure?

In this context, schools, colleges and universities need to train their young ones to channel their anger and frustration so that they can get those grievances addressed without bloodshed, violence, killing and arson. It's a high price to pay for the sole reason that the state has failed to create institutions of conflict management. Should we not work at this objective collectively instead of raving and ranting at each other? We are, after all, humans of the same origin; our allegiance to our ethnicities only serves our ego. It's time we learnt to have cross-community conversations. It's the only way to a more liveable future.

Ahead of polls, Baghel goes for Ramayan fest

Move seen as an attempt to counter BJP's Hindutva plank in C'garh

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE ruling Congress in poll-bound Chhattisgarh has decided to organise a 3-day 'International Ramayan Festival' from June 1 in Raigarh district, about 220 km east of the state capital.

Last month the Congress government changed opposition BJP's mega integrated township name Kamal Vihar to Kaushalya Vihar in what is seen as the party's attempt to deny the BJP any "saffron" advantage in the polls due in October this year.

The June 1 event will see participants from various states along with those invited from abroad through the Indian Council of Cultural Relations, Delhi. "This will be a mega event to be organised for the first time," Vivek Acharya, director, department of culture told this newspaper. "We have invited every state and other countries. The theme of the event is Aranya Kanda (the depiction of forest life of Lord Ram, Sita and Lakshman). Every team will be allowed 30 minutes to enact a play based on it," said Acharya.

It is believed that Lord Ram had a long stay along the route 'Ram Van Gaman Path' during his 14-year exile. The officials cited the Lord's prolonged forest life in Chhattisgarh for the theme 'Aranya Kanda.'

The BJP sees the government's attempt as nothing more than a publicity show. "It is meant to gain political mileage in the name of Ram," said O P Choudhary, state BJP general secretary.

The state culture department has sent out invites to Indonesia, Cambodia, Vietnam, Nepal, Sri Lanka, Cambodia, the Maldives and few others. "One team from each state and other countries will be participating. Only from Chhattisgarh, there will be three teams," Acharya said.

The best performers will be given cash awards. The state government in 2019 launched an ambitious project as 'Ram Van Gaman Tourism Circuit' that runs from the northern to the southern part of the state as part of religious tourism.

In the state budget this year, CM Bhupesh Baghel had announced Rs 12 crore for organising 'International Ramayana Festival' every year. The only temple of Lord Ram's mother Mata Kaushalya in the country is at Chandkhuri, cited as her birthplace, about 30 km from Raipur, has been magnificently renovated by the state in October 2021. Then last month the government changed BJP's flagship plan Kamal Vihar to Kaushalya Vihar.

In the 2018 Assembly polls, Congress won 68 seats in the 90-member Assembly. The number rose to 71 after the by-polls. The opposition BJP has 14 seats, Jogi Congress three and two MLAs are from the BSP.

MOVIE TIME

MP CM watches 'Kerala Story' in drive-in theatre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

TEN days after declaring 'The Kerala Story' movie as tax free in Madhya Pradesh, the state's chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan (longest serving BJP CM in the country) watched the movie along with his cabinet colleagues on Tuesday evening.

He was accompanied his wife Sadhna Singh Chouhan, cabinet colleagues and their spouses at the Drive-in Cinema, Ashoka Lake View in Bhopal's Shyamala Hills area, along with the movie's lead actress Adah Sharma and the film's director Sudipto Sen. With this the MP CM became the third CM of a BJP-ruled state, after Uttarakhand and Tripura CMs to watch The Kerala Story movie along with cabinet colleagues. Importantly, Mahaashtra CM Eknath Shinde andhis deputy DevendraFadnawis,too, have watched the same movie recently.

"We're not going to allow the menace of Love Jihad, religious conversion and terrorism in any way in MP. Our state police's ATS has already busted the country's first Hizb-ut-Tahrir (HuT) module, which has been working on those very nefarious designs," the CM said before starting state cabinet meeting in Bhopal earlier in the day.

Everester Parmar ousted from MP cooperative dairy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

MOUNT Everest conqueror Megha Parmar, who joined the Congress on May 9, has been dropped as brand ambassador of the MP State Cooperative Dairy Federation Limited's (MPSCDF) Sanchi brand.

The development came six days after she was dropped by the state government's Women and Child Development ministry as brand ambassador of the Beti Bachao Beti Padhao campaign.

"My brother in Bhopal received correspondence from the MPSCDF on that my contract with them as brand ambassador for the Sanchi brand of products is being terminated," the 28-year-old mountaineer told this newspaper on Tuesday.

The contract had been signed in August 2022. "No reason has been given to me for terminating the contract, despite my dedicated work to perform the role as brand ambassador for the Sanchi brand right to the level of individual dairy farmers. All this is happening since I joined Congress," she said.

"I'm the proud daughter of a farmer and have been helping him in dairy farming since my childhood. I know its nitty-gritty, due to which I was religiously working for the promotion of the Sanchi brand, right from encouraging farmers and small dairies in individual villages to give their milk produce to the state cooperative federation only. I had also worked with the federation in re-starting a scheme aimed at promoting the birth of girls, under which parents of every newborn girl child would be gifted Sanchi ghee, thus establishing an integral bond between the girl child and the Sanchi brand. I don't know why the contract which was valid for three years has been terminated suddenly. It's possibly because of the fact that I joined the Congress," she said.

"I've worked with everyone in the villages as a young sports icon, irrespective of political ideology. Why am I now targeted," she questioned.

Pilot to break away from Congress in June?

The Jan Sangharsh Yatra of former Deputy Chief Minister Sachin Pilot ended on Monday in Jaipur. It appears that in the election year, the role of the opposition in the state has now been taken over by the faction of disgruntled Congress MLAs led by Sachin Pilot. In fact, the banner of the Jan Sangharsh Yatra had a picture of a hand holding a torch instead of Congress's election symbol. It is rumoured that on June 11, which is the death anniversary of his father Rajesh Pilot, Sachin Pilot might announce breaking away from Congress and forming another party or front so that he could become kingmaker in the elections.

BJP to give preference to local leaders now

After the set back in the Karnataka assembly elections, BJP Central list leadership has started brain storming after the defeat. The party now realizes that the reason for the victory of Congress in Karnataka is that they trusted the local leaders. Congress's state unit president DK Shivakumar and former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah are believed to have played a big role. Now BJP is also contemplating that local leaders should be brought forward in the 2023 State elections. Besides PM Narendra Modi, former Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje may be given preference in Rajasthan.

Centre of excellence to be set up soon

A centre of excellence will be set up by the Rajasthan government at a cost of ` 5 crores to promote research on millets and other grains in the state. Apart from research on new varieties of millet and other coarse grains, small entrepreneurs will be encouraged for value addition from various products in the proposed Center of Excellence at Jodhpur Agricultural University. The central government had declared millet as the national grain two years ago. The year 2023 has been declared as the International Millet Year by the United Nations. Research says millet is found to lower postprandial blood glucose level and glycated hemoglobin.

Murder charge against 3 cops for custodial violence

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

FOLLOWING the death of a 28-year-old man who was allegedly beaten while being held in jail, a case on charges of murder has been filed against three police constables in Gujarat's Botad district, said an official.

On April 14, three constables from the Botad Town police station picked up labourer Kalu Padharshi from his home to question him about a case. The police officer said the man, who later claimed that he had been severely assaulted while in jail, passed away on May 14 at a hospital in Ahmedabad.

"The constables visited Padharshi's home to find out information about a person he was unfamiliar with as part of their investigation," according to the FIR.

When Padharshi denied knowing anything about that man, the three officiers demanded his vehicle registration documents. When the victim asked the police personnel for their identity cards, they started hitting him and took him to the police station, a police officer said.

'Denied' central funds for rural welfare, AAP-led Punjab govt to move SC

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE AAP-led Punjab government is contemplating moving the Supreme Court against the Union government as the Rural Development Fund (RDF) of ₹4,000 crore due to it has not been released, sources said.

In a meeting attended by CM Bhagwant Mann and advocate general Vinod Ghai, a sense of urgency over the funds was visible. The state government is rushing against time to have its case listed before the summer vacation of the Supreme Court begins next week.

The Union Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution had earlier reportedly agreed to give 2% RDF and an equal percentage of market fee on Minimum Support Price of wheat and paddy, reducing these from 3% each. These are statutory charges levied by the state government. Until May 3, the provisional cost sheet sent by the Ministry does not mention RDF.

Sources said the Central government is yet to clear the pending RDF of ₹3,200 crore, besides another ₹750 crore RDF on the current wheat season is also due.

Earlier Union Minister for Food and Public Distribution Piyush Goyal while referring to Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann's January 30 letter on March 27 had stated that the issue had been examined. "The matter regarding the allowance of RDF @ 3% of MSP is under active consideration of the department," Goyal had then said.

On May 9, Mann wrote to Piyush Goyal, saying that the reduction in these levies at this stage would adversely affect the rural economy. "The Mandi Board won't be able to repay the loans created for the development of rural infra that helps farmers grow and harvest."

Congress stock slides further in UP as factionalism leaves party in shreds

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IF the UP civic polls are any indication of grassroots political realities in the state, then the Congress has nothing to write home about in the most populous state, its spectacular show in Karnataka notwithstanding.

The party has yet again failed to make a mark in the UP civic polls which witnessed a further decline in the party stature in a state that sends the highest 80 MPs to the Lok Sabha. There are usual complaints: an internecine strife within, the absence of the top brass during campaigning and faulty ticket distribution.

A deep dive into the performance of the party in the recent UP urban local body polls reveals the party's decline in comparison with the 2017 civic polls. The Grand Old Party has won just about half the number of seats vis-à-vis 2017. The vote share too has gone down from 3.70% in 2017 to 2.13%.

The party failed to open its account in mayoral polls to 17 municipal corporations. The party managed to win a total of 263 seats, including 77 of 1,401 corporator seats, 4 of 199 Nagar Palika Parishad chairperson seats, 91 of 5,260 Nagar Palika Parishad members, 14 of 542 Nagar Panchayat chairpersons and 77 of 7,104 Nagar Panchayat members.

The Congress victories seem diminutive as the civic elections were held in 760 urban local bodies for 14,684 posts. In 2017, Congress had won 420 seats, including 110 corporators, nine Nagar Palika Parishad chairpersons, 158 Nagar Panchayat Parishad members, 17 Nagar Panchayat chairpersons and 126 Nagar Panchayat members. It had won 453 seats in 2012 civic polls.

The only saving grace was that a few of the Congress candidates managed to emerge as first runner up leaving their SP and BSP counterparts behind in three mayoral seats including Shahjahanpur, Jhansi and Moradabad. State party chief Brij Lal Khabri said that it was not the BJP but the state government that won the polls for the party candidates.

Civic Polls: Cong decline continues

Char Dham registration halted till May 24 after heavy rush of pilgrims

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

IN view of the unprecedented rush to register for Char Dham yatra and the huge crowd of devotees at the shrines, the Uttarakhand government has extended the ban on registration till May 24. According to the data till Tuesday, around 10 lakh devotees have visited the temples so far and the number of registrations has crossed 30 lakh.

"Undoubtedly, the number of pilgrims coming for this yatra is going to surpass last year's figure, at the same time we are committed to a safe and successful yatra," Badri Kedar Temple Committee president Ajendra Ajay told this newspaper. Last year, the number of pilgrims who visited Char Dham Yatra and Hemkund Sahib was 48 lakh.

"A grand bronze 'Om' motif weighing 60 quintals, which has been built in Baroda, Gujarat, will be installed at the Gol Plaza of Kedarnath, the 12th Jyotirlinga of Lord Ashutosh," Ajay said. The District Disaster Management Authority has successfully tested it and after getting the approval, it will be installed permanently.

Kedarnath is being beautified under a project of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. At present, the work of the second phase in Dham is going on in full swing. In the first phase, temple route and round plaza were constructed along with the expansion of the temple complex.

Yogendra Singh, chief executive officer of the Badri Kedar Temple Committee, said, "Nine years after the Kedarnath disaster, Lord Shiva's adorable guru Ishaneshwar will also be able to find his 'abode', the work is in the final stage, and the work is expected to be completed this month."

Since the disaster, idols of the Lord are being worshipped under the open sky.

IIT-K launches online rural initiative to provide quality education to kids

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kanpur has launched an initiative to impart online education to children belonging to rural areas of Uttar Pradesh. The 'Online Rural Education Initiative (OREI)' aims at providing quality education to school children in villages through its Ranjit Singh Rozi Shiksha Kendra (RSK) project.

The initiative, launched by the institution on Tuesday in the presence of UP chief Secretary DS Mishra, integrated with Unnat Bharat Abhiyan of Government of India, and the pilot programme was launched in two schools — Ram Janki Inter College, Bithoor, Kanpur and Bhartiya Gramin Vidyalaya — Mohan in state capital Lucknow.

Rita Singh, OREI Project Executive Officer said: "The mission of Ranjit Singh Rozi Shiksha Kendra is to ensure the right of every child to best quality education irrespective of their location."

The project has been adopted by UP Department of Education to be run in government secondary schools. As per UP chief Secretary, the number of rural schools to be covered under the programme will soon be expanded to 100 and later it would be implemented in all schools across the state.

In OREI, teaching is done from a smart classroom at IIT Kanpur where technology enables two-way communication between children in school classrooms and teachers. With the help of advanced technology, both parties can talk to each other in real time and teachers can ensure that the classes are interactive in nature.

At present, OREI provides education to class IX and X students by conducting two classes daily.

The plan is to add students of class XI and XII with the project in the coming year. As per Prof Abhay Karandikar, Director IIT Kanpur, Ranjit Singh Rozi Shiksha Kendra is an in-house project set up by IIT-Kanpur to reach out to the nearby villages and contribute to the employability of youth. "OREI is aimed at ensuring quality education to the rural children with the help of innovation and technology," he added.

The teaching under the project is mapped to NCERT syllabus and is carried out in colloquial Hindi to make it comprehensible for rural children. An academic helpline where children can contact to get answers to their problems is currently in progress.

Project to run in govt secondary schools

The project has been adopted by UP Department of Education to be run in government secondary schools. As per UP chief Secretary, the number of rural schools to be covered under the programme will soon be expanded to 100 and later in all schools.

Kyiv thwarts Russian air attacks, downs 18 missiles

KYIV

UKRAINIAN air defences thwarted an intense Russian air attack on Kyiv early on Tuesday, shooting down all 18 missiles aimed at the capital.

Loud explosions boomed over Kyiv as the nighttime attack combined Russian missiles launched from the air, sea and land in an apparent attempt to overwhelm Ukraine's air defenses. No casualties were reported.

Russia's latest attack on Kyiv was "exceptional in its density" the maximum number of attacking missiles in the shortest period of time, said Serhii Popko, the head of the Kyiv military administration.

The British ambassador to Ukraine, Melinda Simmons, tweeted that the barrage was "pretty intense."

"Bangs and shaking walls are not an easy night," she wrote on Twitter.

It was the eighth time this month that Russian air raids had targeted the capital, a clear escalation after weeks of lull and ahead of a much-anticipated Ukrainian counter-offensive. It also came as President Volodymyr Zelenksyy concluded a whirlwind European tour to greet Ukraine's key wartime allies, which spurred an additional tranche of pledged military aid. AFP

INDIA-UAE TIES TO BENEFIT GENERATIONS

IF the geography of a place shapes the characteristics of its people, then it is perhaps a consequence of centuries in which resources were scarce and hard-won, that the people of the United Arab Emirates share an acute sense of guardianship for both people and the planet.

We never take for granted the worth of the land or the riches of the seas, and we take responsibility for the conservation of both. This trait is embodied most fully by His Highness Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al Nahyan, President of the UAE, whose personal connection with the natural world has manifested in a lifelong commitment to its preservation. And given the immense and complex challenge of accelerating climate change, we are all fortunate that we are able to take inspiration from his clarity of vision and consistency of purpose.

It is in this spirit that we extend the hand of friendship from the UAE, to the world. This progress is underpinned and facilitated by the building of strong and lasting partnerships that are not only founded on decades of mutual trust and benefit but designed for the benefit of generations still to come.

This means bolstering historic trade relations, such as the India-UAE Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), which will increase bilateral trade in goods to $100 billion within five years. This means exploring shared opportunities in areas such as clean energy, artificial intelligence (AI) and digital connectivity, aerospace and the space industry, health tech, food security and systems, and the blue economy.

Sometimes, this means simply being there for a friend in need. We welcome those same friends to our shores, too: we are a home-from-home for more than 200 nationalities, a harmonious and enabling platform from which people are able to contribute to the economies of both the UAE and their home country. Our economic model, which is founded on values of compassion and common humanity, is one that is open and available to all so that everyone might prosper.

All of which enhances immeasurably the prospects for long-term stability and security in a tumultuous world. By enabling others to break cycles of sickness, poverty and neglect, the priorities of human and planetary health translate directly into the broadening of economic horizons and wealth creation. And only through the imaginative and open-minded unlocking of untold human potential, will we find a truly sustainable path through the challenges we face as a species today."

The creation of the Mohamed Bin Zayed Species Conservation Fund in 2008, at a time of global financial upheaval, proved a profoundly wise investment in all our futures. An exemplar of innovative philanthropy, helping boots-on-the-ground conservationists to bypass needless bureaucracy and red tape, the Fund has since safeguarded the existence of countless flora and fauna across all continents.

REEM AL HASHIMY
The author is Minister of State for International Cooperation of the United Arab Emirates

In 2009, Abu Dhabi became home to IRENA, the International Renewable Energy Agency, which provides a platform for the world to foster the adoption of all forms of renewable energy, prioritising long-term planetary health, the benefits of which will shape the very future of all life on Earth.

Similarly, only our children's children will be able to truly appreciate the achievements of the Reaching the Last Mile initiative, which was launched by President Sheikh Mohamed in 2017, following years of providing life-saving vaccinations in Afghanistan and Pakistan.

In partnership with philanthropists and donors, governments, civil society and the private sector, Reaching the Last Mile has reconfigured the war against some of the world's most deadly and debilitating diseases. The impact has been generational: Guinea worm disease and polio are set to become the next human diseases in history to be eradicated. Thanks to these continued efforts, untold millions across the world will never need to experience the hardships endured by those who came before.

None of this would be conceivable, let alone achievable, in the absence of leadership that is values-based and rooted in both people and place, prioritising the poorest and most vulnerable, whether in the region or around the world.

As Emiratis, we know that true security and prosperity are possible only when we seek to ensure dignity and opportunity for all. History assures us time and again that we are only as strong as the most vulnerable among us: as a family, a tribe, a country and even a community of nations. And it is in the service of the underserved, inspired by our leadership, that we earn our right to stand alongside those who came before.

In this and in so much more, President Sheikh Mohamed embodies the wisdom of his distinguished predecessor, the late Sheikh Khalifa bin Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan, who once noted that "Nations do not grow in stature by wishes but by hard-won achievements".

In this era of existential uncertainty, in which the leaders of today will determine the livability of tomorrow, I and so many others around the world are grateful for his foresight, strength and guidance. Untold millions more will prove the beneficiaries of his extraordinary prescience. And together, we will chart a path for peace, prosperity and opportunity for all.

UK re-opens 1981 murder of Indian boy

LONDON

BRITISH police detectives are re-examining the case of an 8-year-old Indian-origin schoolboy who went missing on his walk back home more than four decades ago.

Vishal Mehrotra vanished from south London on 29 July 1981, incidentally on the day of the royal wedding between King Charles and Diana, the late Princess of Wales.

Seven months later, his remains were found in woodland near the village of Rogate, West Sussex.

No one has been convicted of his murder so far.

Sussex Police said that senior detectives from the Surrey and Sussex Major Crime Team met with Vishal's father Vishambar Mehrotra last week to discuss a recent documentary and podcast series aired in the UK related to the historic case.

The sleuths also informed him that further inquiries are being carried out in this case.

Mehrotra has been campaigning ever since for a thorough investigation into the circumstances that led to his son's disappearance and killing.

"We acknowledge the ongoing distress to Mr Mehrotra and Vishal's wider family and their need to find answers to what happened to him in 1981," said Sussex Police Detective Superintendent Mark Chapman. AFP

Court extends Imran's bail in two cases till June 8

Supporters of Pakistan's ruling alliance march in Islamabad | AFP

ISLAMABAD

A Pakistan high court on Tuesday extended the bail of Imran Khan in two cases pertaining to inciting violence and sedition until June 8.

A single bench of the Islamabad High Court (IHC) heard the pleas in cases pertaining to allegations against top officers of state institutions and the manhandling of Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) leader Mohsin Ranjha by Khan's supporters.

Chief Justice Aamer Farooq after hearing the arguments by the lawyers extended Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) chief's bail till June 8. The extension was given after the court also granted the former prime minister exemption from court appearance for the day.

Justice Farooq also inquired about the registration of a first information report related to Imran's arrest made from the court's premises. The attorney general responded that a Supreme Court verdict is pending in the case.

Last week, the IHC had granted 70-year-old Khan bail, barring the authorities from arresting him in all the cases registered beyond May 9 and asked him to approach the Lahore High Court for further relief on May 15.

Imran has been implicated in scores of cases since his ouster from power in April last year. He alleged that all the cases were politically motivated.

Meanwhile, the Lahore High Court (LHC) on Tuesday reserved the verdict on Imran's petition seeking bail in all cases registered against him in Punjab province following his arrest in the Al Qadir Trust case last week that sparked violent protests by his supporters. In the Al Qadir Trust case, in which the National Accountability Bureau arrested the former cricketer-turned-politician on May 9, the high court granted him pre-arrest bail for two weeks.

The Supreme Court had declared Imran's arrest from the IHC premises illegal and referred the matter to the high court. AFP

Fate of ₹6k cr Go First loans to be decided in a month

Lenders may take call in CoC meeting on classifying loans as NPA, as they don't expect a quick turnaround in the airline's operations

SACHIN KUMAR @Mumbai

THE fate of ₹6,000 crore loans given by banks to Go First airline will be decided soon as the lenders are expected to take a decision within a month to classify their loans to the cash-strapped airline as non performing asset (NPA).

Public sector lender Bank of Baroda has made a provision of ₹500 crore in the current for its exposure to the troubled airline, said Sanjiv Chadha, managing director and chief executive officer of the bank. The bank has an exposure of about ₹1,400 crore to Wadia group-owned Go First.

"A good portion of our exposure to the airline is covered. The Committee of Creditors (CoC) will have to meet to discuss the status of banks exposure to the airline. As of now, it is a standard account and within a month we will have to take call regarding this exposure," Joydeep Dutta Roy, executive director, Bank of Baroda, told this newspaper.

Go First, which has sought bankruptcy protection after the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) admitted its plea for voluntary insolvency, owes over ₹6,000 crore to four lenders. Central Bank of India has the highest exposure of ₹2,000 crore, Deutsche Bank has ₹1,320 crore exposure while IDBI Banks' exposure to the airline is ₹50 crore.

"So far the airline has not reached us and we are waiting for the communication from the IRP (Interim Resolution Professional). The meeting of CoC is expected after May 22," a senior official of the Central Bank of India told this newspaper.

The decision to classify a loan as NPA is decided by bank individually but in the case of Go First, lenders will take this call in the meeting of CoC. A loan is classified as NPA when its principal or interest payment remains overdue for a period of 90 days. If the lenders decide to classify Go First loans as NPA, it will close the doors for the airline for further funding from the lenders.

As per sources, exposure of banks to Go First is likely to be classified as NPA as Go First is struggling for resources after it halted its operations. They do not expect a quick turnaround in airline's operations. Lenders have also turned cautious and are unlikely to lend further to the airline.

On May 10, the NCLT admitted Go First's plea for voluntary insolvency and admitted for the initiation of Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) proceedings. NCLT has granted Go First protection under a moratorium from recovery by lessors and lenders. In total, the airline's total liabilities to creditors stand at ₹11,463 crore, including dues to banks, financial institutions, vendors and aircraft lessors.

BoB profit up 168%, keeps ₹500 cr for Go First exposure

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

PUBLIC sector lender Bank of Baroda on Tuesday reported a 168% jump in its March quarter net profit at ₹4,775 crore, helped by decline in money set aside for loan losses.

Its net profit for the full financial year 2022-23 nearly doubled to ₹14,110 crore.

In the reporting quarter, it's core net interest income grew 33.8% to ₹11,525 crore, aided by a growth in advances of nearly 19% and an expansion in net interest margin (NIM) to 3.53% as against 3.07% in the year-ago period.

The bank's income from fee stood at ₹1,714 crore, a rise of 4.6% from ₹1,638 crore in the year-ago period.

Its managing director and chief executive Sanjiv Chadha told reporters that he was himself surprised with the higher NIMs, and will aim to protect the 3.5% level in the current financial year (FY24).

The bank is aiming for a loan growth of 13-14% in FY24, which will include 11-13% growth in the corporate advances, officials said.

In the fourth quarter of FY23, the bank's overall provisions for bad debts decreased by 94 % to ₹320 crore as against ₹5,200 crore in the year-ago period.

Chadha said the credit cost for FY23 came at 0.5%, much below the 1% expectation, and the bank will strive to keep it under 1% in the long term as well. The gross non-performing assets ratio improved to 3.79% as of March 31, as against 6.61% in the year-ago period and 4.53% in December.

ECONOMIC DATA MISSES ESTIMATES

April economic data for the Chinese economy missed expectations as the economy is yet to recover from the impact of its stringent Covid restrictions. Industrial output rose 5.6% year-on-year in April as against 3.9% in March following a muted start to the year. Retail sales increase by 18.4%, which is lower than forecast made by economists. As per the data, fixed asset investment jumped by 4.7%, as against the expectation of 5.5%. The urban joblessness eased in April (5.2%) from 5.3% in March. The country's central bank, The Peoples Bank of China, on Monday hinted that it will adopt supportive policy, pledging "appropriate" level of money supply and credit. In recent weeks, it was expected that the economy was recovering from the slump.

ASIA

SHARES FALL ON WEAKER CHINA ECONOMIC DATA

Asian stock markets gave up initial gains on Tuesday after data showed China's economy is weaker than expected. Benchmarks gained in Tokyo, Hong Kong and Seoul but Shanghai and Sydney markets tumbled. Economic recovery in China remained under pressure from sluggish consumer and export demand in April. Japan's Nikkei 225 index surged 0.7% to 29,842.99, climbing toward its highest level since the early 1990s, helped by strong corporate earnings and signs that inflationary pressures might be easing. Hong Kong's Hang Seng remained flat at 19,978.25, while the Shanghai Composite index lost 0.6% to 3,290.99. South Korea's Kospi remained flat at 2,480.24, while Australia's S&P/ASX 200 slipped 0.45% to 7,234.70. The S&P 500 rose 0.3% to 4,136.28 and the Dow Jones Industrial Average jumped 0.1% to 33,348.60 on Monday. The Nasdaq composite climbed 0.7% to 12,365.21.

PAKISTAN

MAY TURN TO CHINA FOR BAILOUT

Cash-strapped Pakistan could seek funds from its all-weather ally China to avert the Balance of Payment (BoP) crisis if the IMF does not revive the $6.5 billion programme, according to a media report on Tuesday. The country is left with no other options but to explore other ways to avert default, The News International quoted sources as saying. Pakistan has adopted the policy of import restrictions to manage its economy in order to avert default. Considering a weak State Bank of Pakistan reserves position at just $4.38 billion, the IMF is being extra careful in financing. The international fund last week said Pakistan needed significant additional financing for successful completion of the ninth review bailout package. Last month, Chinese Premier Li Qiang assured his Pakistani counterpart Shehbaz Sharif that China supports Pakistan in maintaining financial stability. China has already given financial aid to Pakistan.

Defence stocks may rally as govt bans import of 928 items

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

SHARES of listed defence sector companies could hold on to their ongoing rally as the Indian government last week announced a fresh list of import ban on 928 defence equipment for six years, starting December 2023.

With the Indian armed forces expected to spend about $130 billion in capital procurement over next five years and the public sector undertakings (DSPUs) in the sector being asked to source from local players, there is ample opportunity for domestic companies to scale up.

"This is a favourable move in defence sector. Manufacturers and developers of missiles, offshore patrol vessels, personal protective gear, surveillance systems, war ships, radars, weapons and systems etc could participate for expression of interest (EoIs), request for proposal (RFPs) in next few months," said Deepak Jasani, head of retail research, HDFC Securities.

As per Jasani, Bharat Electronics, Bharat Dynamics, Hindustan Aeronautics, L&T, GRSE, Mazagon Dock, MIDHANI, and Zen Tech could be some of the beneficiaries of this move. However, as a large number of these stocks have already run up over the past few quarters, one needs to take an individual view on buying on dips at safe entry levels, he added. Defence-related stocks have rallied between 15% and 80% in the past one year.

Jasani pointed out that the government's focus on indigenisation has resulted in a significant increase in contracts to Indian vendors. Capital allocation for domestic procurement in FY24 has been raised to 75% (versus 68% in FY23).

This was the fourth time in the past couple of years when the government has decided to curtail defence imports. The total number of such banned items now adds up to 2,166.

Davinder Sandhu, co-founder & Chairman, Primus Partners, said while these phased indicative timelines towards indigenisation are necessary, visibility on the volumes also required. Visibility on volumes will enable the industry to plan its capabilities and capacities, Sandhu added. "In this list, the earliest indicative timeline is for December 2024 – hence in the long term once businesses grow, courtesy of these initiatives, the industry will see accelerated growth, with an attendant positive impact on sector stocks."

Sandhu highlighted that expenditure on defence procurement from foreign sources decreased from 46% in FY19 to 36.7% as of December 2022. "There are many areas where indigenisation efforts have led to import substitutions, but there are still many critical areas as well - including materials, electronics, and propulsions, which are still import dependent," said Sandhu.

LIC share wipes out ₹1.9 lakh crore since listing

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

IN a year since its high profile debut on the exchanges, share of Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) has plunged 35% from the listing price and over 40% from the upper band of the IPO issue price.

This makes the state-owned insurer one of the largest destroyers of investors' wealth in recent times.

LIC had entered bourses as India's 5th most valuable company with a market capitalisation (m-cap) of ₹5.48 lakh crore. LIC's m-cap at the end of Tuesday's session stood at ₹3.59 lakh crore, a colossal erosion of ₹1.89 lakh crore.

Owing to its sheer size, the company's m-cap has devalued more than new-age firms such as Paytm, Zomato and Nykaa.

The only listed entities that have erased wealth greater than LIC in recent times belong to the Adani Group.

LIC shares closed at ₹568 apiece on Tuesday. The scrip hit its 52-week high of ₹918.95 a year ago and rock bottomed at ₹530.05 when its ₹30,000 crore plus investment in Adani Group stocks took a big hit after the Hindenburg Research report.

Despite the company's market-leading stature, solid quarterly numbers and widespread reach, LIC stock has remained under pressure because of the new tax regime, which doesn't favour exemption to individuals seeking insurance schemes and the ongoing Adani-Hindenburg saga.

"We expect LIC to have minimal impact on the tax implications because of its versatile client mix. The stock is currently trading at an appealing valuation, exhibiting a substantial discount compared to its industry peers. While near-term performance could be shackled by sectorial uncertainties, long-term investors can anticipate a favourable return," said Cyril Charly, Research Analyst at Geojit Financial Services.

India will become next semiconductor hub: Telecom minister

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

TELECOM minister Ashwani Vaishnaw on Monday said the entire semiconductor industry in the world wants to come to India because of the availability of talent in the country and the steps the government is taking to improve its talent base.

The minister, while speaking on the sidelines of Sanchar Sathi portal launch, said the world now considers that India can become the next semiconductor hub in the world.

"The semiconductor industry will become a $1 trillion industry by 2030, and then it would require a 1 million talent pool," said the minister.

Vaishnaw said the country has many advantages that give it an edge over its competitors. The country has a large talent pool and it has already earmarked 20,000 megawatts of green energy for semiconductor manufacturing.

He asserted that in the next five to 10 years, India will emerge as a major semiconductor destination for companies. The minister was recently on a trip to the US, where he met nearly 45 companies in three days. The government also signed a MoU with Purdue University for a joint programme, joint research and online course for semiconductor industry. Under the Semicon India programme that aims to train 85,000 semiconductor engineers in the country, the minister said by now it already has about 106 universities, which are running semiconductor programmes.

On the question of not being able to convince the big semiconductor companies to invest in India, the minister said it is not a short-term programme, it would take about 20 years to create a proper ecosystem. He said the government is not rushing through everything but is trying to create a proper ecosystem.

On regulating AI, he said the possible threats posed by artificial intelligence (AI) and creating a regulatory framework is an issue of global significance, not limited to only one country. He said this has to be looked at from an international perspective. "As we come up with the idea about the framework, we will keep sharing it."

Amazon fires 500 from web services, HR teams

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

AMAZON has handed out pink slips to at least 500 employees in India at the end of April, as part of the broader layoff it announced in March this year. This round of layoff has affected employees in Amazon Web Services (AWS) and HR functions, said people familiar with the development.

It is said that this is part of the ongoing process. In March, Amazon CEO Andy Jassy said 9,000 people will be laid off in next few weeks, mostly in AWS, PXT (People Experience and Technology Solutions), Advertising and Twitch. He said, "Given the uncertain economy in which we reside, and the uncertainty that exists in the near future, we have chosen to be more streamlined in our costs and headcount." In January, the company had announced it would eliminate 18,000 jobs. Again, in March, Amazon said it will cut 9,000 more jobs and complete the layoff by mid to late April.

People aware of the development said certain employees were asked to leave immediately and the others were working for 15 days or more. Jassy had said the company will provide packages that include a separation payment, transitional health insurance benefits, and external job placement support.

An Amazon employee, who has been laid off, took to social media and said she has been struggling to process for the past 20 days about the layoff news. "I was recently relieved from my position at Amazon in April 2023. I have been feeling a range of emotions since then, including grief, anger and uncertainty. I am grieving the loss of my job, the relations I built with my colleagues, and the sense of purpose I felt in my work," she said. Facebook-parent Meta too recently announced firing 10,000 employees and closing 5,000 additional open roles that it was to hire.

New govt portal to track, block lost mobile phones

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

THE government on Monday launched an artificial intelligence (AI)-based portal that will help users track and block lost or stolen mobile phones.

Called Sanchar Sarthi, the portal will also inform users if more connections are fraudulently taken in their name and the same can be blocked. The portal can also find how many mobile connections a user has taken. "We are launching three consumer-centric reforms today and two more will be announced in the coming months," said telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw.

The minister said with the help of the portal, a device can be deactivated even if the new SIM card has been inserted as the device is tracked through its unique identification number (IMEI). He said with the Central Equipment Identity register (CEIR), users can track and block lost or stolen mobile phones and also check how many connections are taken on their behalf.

On question of growing instances of fraud calls on WhatsApp, he said the government is actively engaged with WhatsApp and they aasuured to cooperate. "If we notify any account, they (WhatsApp) will also deactivate the account," the minister said.

According to the ministry, the government so far has analysed 87 crore mobile connections, out of which, 40 lakh suspected mobile numbers have been identified, 36 lakh mobile numbers deactivated and more than 40,000 point of sales (PoS) blacklisted. Among the states, West Bengal is on top where 12 lakh SIM got disconnected, followed by Haryana, Bihar and Jharkhand, and Madhya Pradesh. In one case, 6,800 connections were taken against the same image of the subscriber (same face, different names). In another case, 5,300 connections were taken against the same image (same face, different names).

Wrestlers mull taking their protest to Ram Lila ground

The protesting wrestlers, who have been demanding the arrest of former WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, indicated that they may take their agitation to Ram Lila ground to make it a "national movement". "We will discuss it among ourselves and will take a decision about it soon," said Sakshi Malik, one of the elite wrestlers who has been part of the protest at Jantar Mantar in New Delhi for over three weeks.

Will Capitals spoil Kings' party?

Punjab Kings take on Delhi Capitals in a must-win game at Dharamshala. A look...

WHAT IS SHAHRUKH'S ROLE?

M Shahrukh Khan is one of the established T20 finishers in the domestic circuit. However, PBKS have not used him well this season. The TN batter has largely been sent to bat at No. 7 or lower, as a result of which either he has had too little time to make a mark or it has been too late that the damage has already been done. As they seek play-off berth, they would want to find a resolution.

ARSHDEEP VS SALT

Phil Salt has gotten out 22 times to a left-arm pacer in the first six overs in T20s. He averages 22.7 against that kind of bowler during the phase. In Punjab, he will have a threat in Arshdeep Singh. Given the kind of form both the players have shown for their respective franchises, who wins this contest will set the tone for Delhi's batting.

PRABHSIMRAN PILES ON

While Prabhsimran Singh has been with Punjab Kings for a few years now, this has been the year where he has grabbed the limelight with both hands and made the most of it. With 334 runs at 153.91 strike rate, he has been one of their standouts with the bat so far. PBKS would be hoping that he continues the same in the next couple of games as well.

Super Giants march on

GOMESH S @ Chennai

IT was always going to be the make or break clash for both Lucknow Super Giants and Mumbai Indians. The kind of contest where the winner-takes-all. Considering the surfaces the Ekana Stadium has thrown up, an intriguing contest was expected, and that is exactly what happened as Mohsin Khan held his nerve to secure a five-run win for LSG.

Unlike the other games, they had a red soil surface for the MI clash, ensuring there was little help for Piyush Chawla. It was still on the slower side, but the difference was the amount of spin on offer. Mumbai needed early wickets and Jason Behrendoff delivered, dismissing Deepak Hooda and Prerak Mankad. Chawla did his part, sending back Quinton de Kock, to leave LSG reeling at 35/3.

Krunal Pandya played the perfect anchor while Marcus Stoinis tried to dismiss the bad balls over the ropes. Together, they added 82 runs from 59 balls before the southpaw retired himself for a 42-ball 49. Meanwhile, Stoinis stood tall to smash Chris Jordan, Behrendorff, Chawla and Akash Madhwal — no one was spared. As always Jordan did a Jordan (went for 0/50 in four overs), and Mumbai continued their bowling form in the death, conceding 60 runs in the last four overs. Stoinis went on to score an unbeaten 89 from 47 balls, taking LSG to 177/3.

Mohsin Khan held his nerve in the final over to secure a 5-run win for LSG | SPORTZPICS

BRIEF SCORES

LSG 177/3 in 20 ovs (Stoinis 89 n.o, Krunal 49; Behrendorff 2/30, Chawla 1/26) bt MI 172/5 in 20 ovs (Kishan 59, Sharma 37; Bishnoi 2/26).

During the chase, Ishan Kishan (39-ball 59) and Rohit Sharma (25-ball 57)provided the start they needed, but MI's middle-order let go off the momentum.

Mohsin's moment of glory

Tim David (32 n.o) tried to take it deep with his late onslaught. With 11 needed from the last over, pressure was on Mohsin who was playing at his home ground. But that was not all of it. The pacer had been out of action for almost a year and played his first game of the season on May 3. If that is not enough, his father was not well and had just been discharged from the hospital the day before. One can only imagine what was going through his head at the top of his mark.

Mohsin, however, stuck to his strengths, nailing the yorkers outside off-stump. The local star conceded just five runs, to secure a crucial win for LSG in front of his home crowd. "...it was a tough time. I am happy to bowl and my father was in the hospital in the ICU and he was discharged yesterday and I am hoping he is watching. Today I played for my father," Mohsin said after the match.

With the win, LSG move to third place in the table, just behind Chennai on Net Run Rate.

'Defend to win'

New India men's hockey coach Fulton outlines his mantra in first press conference since appointment

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

THE sweat on Craig Fulton's face is visible. The new men's hockey coach of the Indian team has just finished overseeing an intense session ahead of a series of Pro League games in Europe. These kind of sessions are important as the side tries to recover its lost footing in a year comprising two Asian level events including the Olympic qualifier (Asian Games). It will show to him players who are serious, players who are capable of taking on board the way he wants the side to play the game.

For what it's worth, the South African, part of the support staff when Belgium became world champions in 2018, is 'an attacking coach' but somebody who will teach the team 'defending to win' mentality. In the first press conference since his appointment more than a month ago, he spoke about his coaching philosophy, his immediate impression of the side, short-term goals and the prospect of adding a mental coach to his backroom staff. Excerpts...

On coaching idealogy

Personality wise, I like to defend to win. So, I like to have our defensive structure in place because that is the first step of attacking. If you want to play counter-attacking style, that doesn't help you if you can't defend. But at the same time, what happens if you are 2-0 down? You can't sit in your own half, you have to press the opposition, put them under pressure, you need to both. I am a very forward, attacking coach, I like to score goals but I also like a solid defence. Yes, I think it will take a bit of time (if the team can adapt to his idealogy). But it's also making sure we are harnessing the DNA of the team which is fast, skillful, counter-attacking, good set-pieces. So it has all the ingredients, it's more a case of really being composed enough to do it, especially in offence.

On if he has any non-negotiable demands from players

Overall, start well but finish better. No team wins any match in the first half. It's always important to build scoreboard pressure but it's not easy. Because if you are 2-0 up and you don't bring the energy and the intensity that the chasing team is bringing, then you could end up, you know, 2-1, 2-2, and you suddenly have to find another gear to try and get up. Lot of spirit and mental energy to finish the third and fourth quarter.

On the prospect of a mental coach (an issue previous coach, Graham Reid, had raised after the World Cup exit)

I am aware of that and is in talks with Hockey India to get services of a specialist in that field. In Belgium, it's slightly different, they don't have mental conditioning coach, it's more of personality testing they do. But this is a priority for us (captain Harmanpreet Singh, who also attended the press conference, said the players would welcome such an addition).

On ensuring the players are up for winning big medals again

If the players don't want to improve on the bronze medal, there is not much I can do. One needs to develop the belief and consistency to maintain the 'Olympic Standard' that they have set. It depends on the accountability, teamwork and leadership. The players need to lift each other and maintain the required spirit.

On the short-term goals

We are a good side, not the best side. Ideally, we should be aiming at the gold medal, but there is a gap between us and the top two teams in the world. In the short and medium term, we need to be the No 1 team in Asia consistently, and reach the podium in whichever tournament we play. First of all, we need to win the Asian Games gold medal to qualify directly for the Paris Olympics.

Bielsa named Uruguay coach

MONTEVIDEO: Marcelo Bielsa was named coach of Uruguay, the 67-year-old Argentine tasked with taking them to the 2026 World Cup. Bielsa, who was sacked by Leeds United in February last year, takes over from Diego Alonso after he oversaw a disappointing World Cup campaign. "The man from Rosario will take the reins of the squad after his tenure at Leeds, a club which he managed between June 2018 and February 2022," Uruguay's football association said in naming Bielsa to the post.

Djokovic sails into quarterfinals

ROME: Novak Djokovic eased into the Italian Open quarterfinals after breezing past Cameron Norrie 6-3, 6-4, although there was tension with the Briton after the top seed was hit by a smash. The Serb has reached the last eight in each of his previous 16 appearances in the Italian capital and he did again on Tuesday, getting past Norrie on centre court to set up a clash with Holger Rune. It will be a rematch of last year's Paris Masters final, when the young Dane won his first Masters 1000 title by beating Djokovic.

WC Stage 2: Jyothi in 6th place

SHANGHAI: Compound archer Jyothi Surekha Vennam, who shot a world record-equalling qualifying score last month in Antalya, failed to replicate her success to slump to sixth place in the standings of the World Cup Stage 2. Fresh from her record-equalling 713 points in the World Cup Stage 1, Jyothi managed 693 points to finish outside top-five in the women's compound qualifiers. Koreans were back to dominate the affair as they grabbed the top seedings both in men's and women's sections.

After Hardik's pep talk, Sai thrives for Titans

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

AS Shubman Gill's sublime century and his 147-run stand for the second wicket with B Sai Sudharsan helped Gujarat Titans beat Sunrisers Hyderabad by 34 runs on Monday night, they secured their place in the play-offs becoming the first team to qualify. However, few will know the role skipper Hardik Pandya played in the result.

Coming off a loss against Mumbai Indians in their previous game, Titans needed to get back onto winning ways and Pandya knew it too. Just before the game, he rallied the team together and gave a pep talk, reiterating the significance of ending on the right side of the result on Monday. "He asked us to go out and play positively and this worked," Sai Sudharsan told this daily.

The southpaw from Tamil Nadu was playing his first game in a while having been left out after the first few games. The team management's preferred combination meant Vijay Shankar was drafted in and he stepped up big time to win matches single-handedly with his performance with the bat. However, with Vijay Shankar getting injured, Sai Sudharsan was back in the XI on Monday and played a poignant 36-ball 47 to set the platform along with Gill.

"Pleased with the opportunity to serve the team's cause. Here at GT team comes first, all of us are treated equally. Even when I was not part of XI, I was given good attention and practiced hard. In this format, you never know when an opportunity comes. So, I was prepared and always worked hard on my training and fitness," said Sai Sudarshan. The youngster said that skipper Pandya had been in constant touch with him. Before the SRH game, Pandya spoke for a while with Sai Sudharsan to ensure he was not taking any extra pressure. "Hardik spoke to me for some time. All his inputs were positive. He told me not to put unnecessary pressure on me and just go out and enjoy and play my natural game. When your captain backs you to do well, it is half the job done," he said.

As Gill put on a batting masterclass against Hyderabad on Monday to score his maiden IPL ton, Sai Sudharsan had the best seat in the house, watching him bat from the non-striker's end.

"It (Gill's innings) was a brilliant hundred. It was written with grace all over. His innings was effortless. I just wanted to compliment him at the other end. Watching him, I learnt many things, but in particular, how to pace one's innings. Once I came in after Saha's dismissal, I had a feel of the surface and then played accordingly. The SRH attack was good with the likes of Bhuvi (Bhuvneshwar Kumar), Nattu (T Natarajan) and (Marco) Jansen in their ranks. So, we value this win a lot," he signed off.

Shot-putter Toor, javelin thrower Rani produce gold mettle in Ranchi

AGENCIES @Ranchi

REIGNING Asian Games champion shot-putter Tajinderpal Singh Toor and Commonwealth Games bronze medallist javelin thrower Annu Rani shared the limelight as they clinched gold medals in their respective events on Day 2 of the Federation Cup Senior Athletics Championships here.

Annu produced an average performance as she hurled the spear to a distance of 59.24m but it was enough to better the qualifying standard for the upcoming Asian Championship as well as the Asian Games set by the Athletics Federation of India. Annu, representing Uttar Pradesh, has a personal best of 63.82m, also the national record, which she had achieved last year. The women's javelin throw qualifying standard for the July 12-16 Asian Championship is 54.73m, while the corresponding mark for the September 23-October 8 Hangzhou Asian Games is 56.46m.

The 28-year-old Toor, also Asian record holder, heaved the iron ball to a distance of 20.42m to win the gold, though it was below his personal best 21.49m.

Toor, representing Punjab, bettered the Asian Championships as well as Asiad qualifying mark of 19m. Both second and third place finishers, Delhi's Sahib Singh (19.23m) and Punjab's Karanveer Singh (19.05m), also aced the qualifying mark.

Srabani Nanda of Odisha emerged the fastest female athlete as she won the 100m dash with a time of 11.57 seconds. Her winning time, however, fell short of Asian Championship qualification standard of 11.44 seconds. Amiya Kumar Mallick, also from Odisha, won the 100m event with a time of 10.31 seconds. His time also fell short of the 10.19 seconds qualifying standard of both the Asian Championships and Asian Games.

The women's 400m title went to Maharashtra's Aishwarya Mishra, who clocked 52.57 seconds and bettered the Asian Championships standard.

Ramesh of Tamil Nadu won the corresponding men's quarter-mile race in 45.75 seconds, while Muhammed Ajmal (45.85) was second. Both breached the Asian Championships qualification standard of 46.17 seconds.

TOP-TIER BATTLE

Manchester City will be quietly confident of winning at home to advance to their second Champions League final. However, Real Madrid, serial winners and defending champions, are a sizable threat. A look...

VINICIUS FACTOR

Vinicius Junior scored the opener in the first leg but he's more than just goals. His pace, directness & link-up play with Karim Benzema means Madrid always have an avenue to threaten the opposition defence. With more than 20 goals this season, he's in form and purring.

HAALAND VS RUDIGER

In the first leg, Antonio Rudiger passed his assignment — keeping Erling Haaland quiet — with flying colours. He was Haaland's shadow for the entirety of the night and the German will have to do something similar on Wednesday.

MIDFIELD BATTLE

Luka Modric, Toni Kroos and and Fede Valverde are a midfield trio that will dominate most games. The same can be said for City's triumvirate of Kevin de Bruyne, Ilkay Gundogan and Rodri. Expect City to have a lot of the ball but Real will create openings with that midfield.

Liverpool pile on Leicester's misery to keep up top-4 charge

AFP @Leicester

LIVERPOOL maintained their pursuit of Champions League football next season and pushed Leicester ever closer to the Championship as Curtis Jones scored twice in a 3-0 win at the King Power on Monday.

Trent Alexander-Arnold rounded off another fine performance in his new hybrid role between right-back and midfield with a stunning strike as Liverpool closed to within one point of the top four.

Jurgen Klopp's men still need a late-season collapse from Newcastle or Manchester United, but a seven-game winning streak from the Reds has upped the pressure on their rivals, who both have three games remaining to Liverpool's two. "It's all we can do," said Klopp. "It would be a real shame if they slip and we're not there. So we have to do our job. "I think we have qualified for European football which six weeks ago wasn't in sight."

Seven years on from shocking the world to win the title, Leicester's Premier League days look numbered as they remain two points from safety with two games remaining.

They face another daunting task when they travel to Newcastle next Monday in a match that could seal their fate should Everton or Leeds win over the weekend.

"It's pretty simple, we need to win our next game," said Leicester interim boss Dean Smith. "It will be tough at St James' Park. It would be nice to take the lead for once."

Panama Canal maintenance work aims to extend its life by a century

From their vantage point in cranes overlooking the Panama Canal, operators scrutinise the century-old walls of one of its locks as the high-pitched siren of a merchant ship resonates from nearby

COMPLETING MAINTENANCE WORK

In the middle of a gigantic ditch drained of water, workers scramble to complete maintenance work in one of the chambers, or lanes, of the Pedro Miguel lock, not far from the Pacific Ocean

These Panama Canal locks are more than 100 years old, and our maintenance plan is designed to extend their life for another 100 years

—Miguel Lorenzo, vice president of infrastructure and engineering for the canal authority

HOW DO THE LOCKS WORK

The canal uses rainwater to move ships through the locks, which work like elevators to raise vessels by up to 26 meters above sea level as they transit across the isthmus's continental mountain range

The Pedro Miguel locks have two chambers—each a sort of lane through which some 30 ships pass daily

80 km canal

INAUGURATED IN 1914

The 80-km interocean byway was inaugurated by the United States in 1914. Since then, more than a million vessels have transited through, headed from the Pacific to the Atlantic or vice versa

Last round of maintenance

The last round of maintenance for the chamber—which is 1,000 feet long and 110 feet wide—came in 2015. The canal has five sets of locks, with 18 chambers

Accessing electrical components

"The intention is to dry the chamber and have access to all electrical components and equipment" in order to recondition them and extend their operational life, Lorenzo said

MONITORING THE situation

During this time, more than 400 people constantly monitor valves, the 20-metre walls, and the huge pipes through which water is pumped to raise and lower ships

CANAL TRAFFIC CONTINUES

Despite the ongoing maintenance, canal traffic continues. With passage through the west chamber halted, the Uog Phoenix oil tanker passes through the east chamber, sounding its siren as it heads toward the Caribbean

Work in the west chamber is scheduled to last a week, ending May 16, and is budgeted for $2.5 million

IMPORTANCE OF PANAMA CANAL: Some six per cent of all global maritime commerce passes through the Panama Canal, with United States, China and Japan being the leading users

NEW DNA TOOL SPARKS ETHICAL DEBATE AROUND PRIVACY

STUDY

PARIS: The traces of genetic material that humans constantly shed wherever they go could soon be used to track individual people, or even whole ethnic groups, scientists said on Monday, warning of a looming "ethical quagmire". A recently developed technique can glean a huge amount of information from tiny samples of genetic material called environmental DNA, or eDNA, that humans and animals leave behind everywhere—including in the air. The tool could lead to a range of medical and scientific advances, and could even help track down criminals.

But it also poses a vast range of concerns around consent, privacy and surveillance, they added. Humans spread their DNA—which carries genetic information specific to each person—everywhere, by shedding skin or hair cells, coughing out droplets, or in wastewater flushed down toilets.

In recent years, scientists have been increasingly collecting the eDNA of wild animals, in the hopes of helping threatened species. For the new research, scientists at the University of Florida's Whitney Laboratory for Marine Bioscience had been focused on collecting the eDNA of endangered sea turtles.

But the international team of researchers inadvertently collected a massive amount of human eDNA, which they called "human genetic bycatch". David Duffy, a wildlife disease genomic professor at the Whitney Laboratory who led the project, said they were "consistently surprised" by the amount and quality of the human eDNA they collected.

The scientists collected human eDNA from nearby oceans, rivers and towns, as well as from areas far from human settlements. Struggling to find a sample not tainted by humans, they went to a section of a remote Florida island inaccessible to the public.

It was free of human DNA—at least until a member of the team walked barefoot along the beach. They were then able to detect eDNA from a single footprint in the sand. In Duffy's native Ireland, the team found human DNA all along a river, with the exception of the remote mountain stream at its source.

Taking samples from the air of a veterinary hospital, the team captured eDNA that matched the staff, their animal patient and viruses common in animals. One of the study's authors, Mark McCauley of the Whitney Laboratory, said that by sequencing the DNA samples, the team was able to identify if a person had a greater risk of diseases such as autism and diabetes. The researchers emphasised the potential benefits of collecting human eDNA, such as tracking cancer mutations in wastewater, discovering long-hidden archaeological sites or revealing the true culprit of a crime using only the DNA they left in a room.

Natalie Ram, a law professor, said the findings "should raise serious concern about genetic privacy and the appropriate limits of policing".

TWO skeletons at Pompeii

HISTORY

Archaeologists at Pompeii said on Tuesday that they had uncovered two new skeletons of male victims who likely died in an earthquake that accompanied the volcanic eruption of Mount Vesuvius, which buried the Italian city in ash in AD 79. The pair, believed to be two males aged at least 55, were found in excavations. They are believed to have been killed as an earthquake knocked down a wall in the room where they sought shelter. One of the skeletons had an arm raised as if in defence. The earthquake struck as the huge blast covered the city of Pompeii with thick volcanic ash, preserving the bodies of many of its residents.

MISHANDLING OF LUGGAGE SOARS

TRAVEL

The rate of lost, damaged or delayed luggage nearly doubled last year as air travel rebounded and the sector faced staff shortages following the Covid pandemic, a study found on Tuesday. The report by SITA, an IT provider for the air transport industry, said 7.6 bags per 1,000 passengers were mishandled in 2022, up from 4.35 per 1,000 passengers the previous year. The surge follows more than a decade of reduction in the rate of mishandled luggage, according to SITA. In total, 26 million bags were mishandled last year, compared to 9.9 million in 2021, as the number of travellers neared pre-Covid levels, according to SITA.

Art historian Anita N sheds light on the undervalued art of quilt-making by Siddi women, her venture and upcoming Siddi art installation to debut in June for the Australian Wonderspace in the city

DESE GOWDA

NEARLY a decade ago, city-based art historian Anita N was visiting her friend Girija, a Siddi woman, at the latter's family home in rural North Karnataka where she was given a quilt woven out of used fabric, to sit upon. Among the materials used to weave the quilt, Anita recognised in it a hand-me-down, given by Anita herself on an earlier visit. Fascinated by the intricate-yet-simple design that was unlike anything she had ever come across, she searched for the source of the quilt, eventually discovering that it was the work of an elderly woman from the Siddi community.

Little did she realise then that it would lead her to start a project to preserve the centuries-old practice of Siddi quilt-making, promoting it while providing a source of income to Siddi women. Since the last two years, Anita's work has gained international attention. Apart from being recognized by various institutions across the world, she received a project grant from the prestigious Karun Thakar Fund in late 2022. More recently, Anita is working on an art installation for the Atlassian Wonderspace, in the city, funded by the Australian Centre for Contemporary Art, that will debut in June 2023.

Preserving the art form of Siddi quilt-making is important because each quilt is a unique expression of the women who make it. No two quilts are similar

Anita N, art historian

As descendants of the Bantu peoples of South-East Africa, the Siddis were brought to India via the Arab slave trade. Largely present in the north and North-Eastern parts of Karnataka, the community is among the poorest in the country. "Quilting was largely practised by the economically backward classes. They are used to keep warm during winter and to sit upon during warmer months. Siddis also don't waste anything and reuse fabric to stitch these quilts," says Anita, adding that the community's quilt-making tradition is not from their African ancestry but was something they picked up from local traditions in India such as Godra.

However, unlike North Indian quilt-making forms, Anita says South Indian quilt-making is largely unrecognised and is disappearing fast due to socio-economic changes and urbanisation. "Preserving that art form is important because each quilt is a unique expression of the women who make it. No two quilts are similar. Every quilt is made with whatever material is available to them," Anita says. Hence, she started Siddi Kavandi in 2016, locating people who still practised quilting and also conducting workshops for women from the community to encourage them to take it up.

"It was a slow and arduous process," says Anita, adding, "The Siddis are a shy community and do not welcome outsiders very easily. It was like an adventure because some of their villages are located in the remotest areas and do not even have public transport." Yet, despite the obstacles, Anita was able to make a breakthrough with an unexpected source of help. "Girija was of great help. We went from village to village, some of which were located in deep forests on the foothills of western ghats. We covered around 18 villages," Anita shares.

Currently, the project has enlisted over 60 women, producing intricate quilts, and upcycling used materials such as cotton. Each quilt is sold for upwards of over ₹11,000 through Anita's social media handles with a majority of the revenue going to the quilters.

The quilts have been hugely popular, so much so that Anita says she was approached by a fashion brand with a proposal to create a prototype for mass production, which she promptly refused.

"I want to expand it within the Siddi community, but I've no interest in expanding it commercially," she says.

Thailand, Vietnam, Malaysia in international waters and Himachal Pradesh in Indian soil...these are some of the hottest locales on the travelling scene right now

CATCHING A NEW SUN

Actor Milana Nagaraj in Bangkok, Thailand

Actor Radhika Narayan on her trip to Naggar, Himachal Pradesh

TUNIR BISWAS

IN the present holiday season, Bengalureans have been travelling to various locations to take a break from the city's hustle and are seeking some much-needed respite elsewhere. Among the many locations, northern India is a popular place right now for travelling within the country, but for international travel, South and South-East Asian countries are setting the trend at the moment.

Sandalwood actor Milana Nagaraj recently went on a trip to Bangkok, Thailand. "It was a sudden plan because I had my birthday coming up, and my friends wanted to do a group trip together for the longest time. We just thought Bangkok would be a nice place to go to hang out, shop and come back. We also did parasailing and enjoyed many massages. It was a really fun trip and a relaxing affair," shares the actor as she prepares to leave for another vacation to France.

Like Nagaraj, many people have been recently travelling to countries of that region.

"During this season, many are visiting places in South and South-East Asia. Places like Malaysia, Vietnam, Thailand, Maldives and so on. They are the popular choice lately as the climate is relatively more suitable for Indian travellers, and it's cheaper than going to European countries," says Srinath Jayaram, a travel consultant working in the city.

"While it is true that South and South-East Asian countries are the travel hotspots in foreign travelling, many from the city are travelling to North Indian states like Himachal Pradesh for some cool respite. They are going there for the cool weather. Additionally, it is relatively not very cold there right now, so it is manageable, Also the picturesque views and fewer people are a bonus," says travel consultant Pradeep M.

Among them who recently went on a trip to Himachal Pradesh is actor Radhika Narayan. "A bunch of my friends and I travelled to Delhi, booked a car and drove to this place called Naggar in Himachal Pradesh. We deliberately chose to drive because we wanted to see the entire route. We were also greeted with snowfall on the way which was wonderful to see. I had a blast. Naggar is not one of the busier tourist destinations so it was very quiet and beautiful. Of course, the cold took me a little time to adjust even though it was actually pleasant for the locals. I did some meditation there as well. I even went on a small trek! I am not someone who enjoys going on treks, but once I saw the view from the top, all that effort was worth it. The whole place was beautiful. I had a 360-degree view of the Himalayas from the balcony of my hotel room," says Narayan with delight.

Ritesh Roy, a 28-year-old professional working at a US-based multimedia MNC who is also an avid traveller, believes April and May to be the perfect time to visit Himachal Pradesh. "I have travelled to all the 12 districts in Himachal Pradesh and through all possible means of transport. It's a place that feels different throughout the year; you could experience extreme snow fall sitting comfortably in decent cafes or can camp next to icy cold rivers. As per my experience, February to May are the best time to travel to the state as it's safer during these months. Roads are in comparatively better condition. It is very risky to go to there during the rains," he says.

This film takes a look at the modern-day menace of smartphone addiction

Plugged in

EXPRESS FEATURES

PHONE addiction in children is a modern-day problem. What starts off as a way to engage children can blow up into an addiction, needing rehabilitation in extreme cases. Filmmaker Sridhar Shastri's Unlock reflects on this topic.

The story follows a young boy who is completely consumed by his smartphone, spending hours scrolling through social media and watching videos. His mother becomes concerned about his behaviour and its impact on his well-being. "I have seen cases where kids get really angry and lash out at their parents when they are not allowed to use smartphones. It's scary to see smartphone addiction being so dangerous. Luckily, there are centers for help. I wanted to share this story that raises awareness," says Shastri.

The story ideation for the film began in 2018, and it took approximately six months to finalise the script. Shot largely in Bengaluru and Puducherry, the film was produced by popular cinematographer Satya Hegde, who has worked in movies like UTurn, 100 and Martin. "During the Bangalore Film Festival, I showcased my work with Satya Hegde Films, and they were impressed with the concept. We partnered to bring the story to life on screen," says Shastri, who just finished his first feature film Tenant which is ready for release.

The sensitive topic of the film persuaded Hegde to produce it. "The film carries a realistic portrayal and its timing couldn't be more perfect to showcase it to audiences. Upon hearing about the concept and recognising the prevalence of similar issues in households, I felt the film is more than just a creative endeavour as it delivers a potent social message that can make a meaningful impact," says Hegde.

The building housed regimental offices, used as armoury, reading room and entertainment space at different timelines before becoming Defence Services Cinema hall in 1959. The theatre was shut down and became an army canteen again in the 1970s. Which iconic road in the city is the building located?

3. Doddanna Hall was a popular entertainment space for people in the peta (old city) area in the early 20th century. Built in 1905 by Doddanna Shetty, a well-known philanthropist in the city was initially meant for public events and cultural activities. The hall also was a popular space for Kushti (wrestling) in the early days before converting into a cinema theatre in 1913 where India's first silent film Raja Harishchandra was screened. The name of the hall was changed to Paramount Theatre which was later demolished in 1974 making way for single screen theatres named Parimala and Pradeep. # THE SUB-CATEGORY OF EPHEMERA COLLECTING

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

MAURICE Rickards defined ephemera as 'the minor transient documents of everyday life'. Ephemera refers to something that is meant to be thrown away after being used or enjoyed for only a short time, for example, tickets or postcards.

Not all ephemera are on paper. They could be matter printed on metal, wood, cloth, celluloid or plastic. They could be handwritten documents, phrases woven into ribbons or bookmarks, hand-drawn original art works, or painted animation cells. Postcards and old trade cards (advertising cards) are hugely popular categories among collectors of ephemera. Old business cards, especially those for businesses which no longer exist, are another favourite. Collecting old passports is an unusual hobby; it is both interesting and educational as you get to learn a lot about the geography, history and politics of a bygone era.

Almost everyone has an old newspaper cover or two stowed away, and although they are worthless in the collectors' market they are still fun to collect. Some examples: Man Walks on Moon; WAR; Gandhi Assassinated; Nixon Resigns; Kennedy Shot; World Trade Center Collapses. Being an ardent fan of Mahatma Gandhi, my personal highpoint in ephemera collecting has been getting 10 editions of his weekly journal Harijan, which he started publishing from 11 January 1933.

Most book collectors like to pick up ephemera in their quest for books because it is an interesting sub category. More recently I have taken an interest in literary ephemera such as broadsides, chapbooks, bookplates, booklets and leaflets.

Bookplates or book labels (also known as ex libris meaning 'from the library of') are little rectangular labels stuck inside a book carrying the signature of the author in a limited-edition book. For instance, I bought a Harry Potter first edition from a bookshop in the UK where JK Rowling's signature was on a bookplate affixed to the page before the title page.

But the earliest usage of bookplates was quite the opposite: to denote ownership of a book! An individual booklover or a library would have a bookplate bearing their name stuck to the book. Some wealthy collectors actually had their own bookplates made, with their symbol. The Art of The Bookplate by James P Keenan is one of my favourite books on this subject.

Broadsides are usually printed on one side only, in different colours, and are illustrated. Collectors keep the best ones framed. One that I've framed has a quotation by Nicholas Basbanes and is even numbered and signed.

Chapbooks, which originated in 16th century Europe, are like booklets but smaller, and therefore handy. I own a few valuable chapbooks printed by more recent presses as a way to demonstrate how attractive a smaller format can be.

Another kind of ephemera that I acquired recently is 'Grolier Club Notices', a portfolio of printed announcements, notices and invitations from the Grolier Club, a preeminent bibliophile society in New York founded in 1884. It was issued in 1924 in a marbled cloth folder and holds some of the club's scarcest ephemera from that period. This originally belonged to one of its earliest members, Harry C Goebel, with his bookplate. Several of the pieces here are printed in letterpress, probably by one of the club's most famous cofounders, the esteemed scholar-printer Theodore Low De Vinne.

Collecting Printed Ephemera by Maurice Rickards is a good reference book for starters. Paper Jewels: Postcards from the Raj by Omar Khan is the first book on postcards printed in the colonial era in India, Pakistan, Sri Lanka and Burma, and features hundreds of professionally-restored images in original format.

Going after ephemera can be frustrating because they are not easy to find, but fun because you never know what you might find! You might buy a box of books and tucked away inside you might find a treasure. But you know what they say: Finders keepers!

Random Reflections: A Kaleidoscopic Musings on Kannada Cinema takes readers into the realm of Kannada cinema through narratives that unfold within the pages of the book

DESE GOWDA

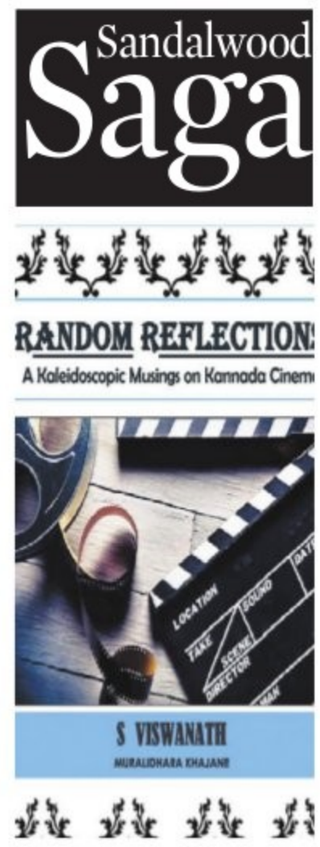
SINCE the release of Sati Sulochana – the first Kannada talkie film, more than 89 years ago, Sandalwood has evolved into a vibrant industry that has not only produced a plethora of groundbreaking films across various genres but also provided a platform to some of the biggest names in Indian cinema. In his recent book Random Reflections: A Kaleidoscopic Musings on Kannada Cinema, renowned film critic S Viswanath explores the historical milestones, challenges, and turning points that have shaped the film industry's rich and diverse history.

Co-authored with city-based journalist Muralidhara Khajane, Viswanath says a multitude of factors inspired him to pen the book. "The main catalyst was Kannada cinema completing more than 80 years. But also factors like the #MeToo movement, the dubbing debate and the Bangalore International Film Festival (BIFFes), which drew lots of young talent from across the country and abroad. I felt a book in English was needed to address these specific readers and give them an insight into the rich history of Kannada cinema," he shares.

A veteran of over three decades in film criticism, Viswanath fondly reminisces his initial encounter with the world of cinema, with matinee idol Rajkumar's Bangarada Manushya being his gateway. Using his wealth of knowledge about the industry, Viswanath along with Khajane, meticulously tackles specific aspects of Sandalwood's chequered history. The book delves into the industry's response to various developments such as digitalisation, state politics, dubbing and remakes, censorship, film festivals, and even the changing facets of Bengaluru. Notably, the book also shines a spotlight on women filmmakers and the impact of the #MeToo movement. It also pays homage to the legendary actor Rajkumar and his influential sons, the late actor Puneeth Rajkumar and actor Shivrajkumar.



"Instead of the familiar milestone rendering of the history of Kannada cinema as is usually done in a book of this nature, the primary objective was to encapsulate how the industry was reacting to and changing its dynamics with these developments. As a witness to some of these events, I wanted to bring a critic's perspective and understanding to it," he says.

Meanwhile, over the last decade, Sandalwood has witnessed a wave of fresh-faced filmmakers ushering in a new era for the industry through unconventional narratives and experimental genres. With films like Lucia, Ulidavaru Kandante, KGF and Kantara, for example, the perceived insularity about the industry is waning as motion pictures are regularly commanding national and even international attention. At this junction, Viswanath says Random Reflections could give cinephiles a better understanding of the industry, thereby helping to also promote the industry. "Instead of appreciating a single Kantara or KGF in a vacuum, they will be better placed to appreciate and assimilate the various cinemas of India and its new emerging talents through books like Random Reflections that brings both a critic's as also a historical perspective to the rise, growth and development of this film industry in India," he adds.

'DAREDEVIL MUSTHAFA IS THE FIRST EVER CROWDFUNDED FILM BACKED BY AN AUTHOR'S FANS'

...says debutant director Shashank Sohgal, who opens up about his debut film, based on a short story by Poornachandra Tejaswi, collaborating with a young team, and more

A still from the film

A SHARADHAA

Directing short films has provided a significant platform for aspiring filmmakers who dream of becoming feature film directors. Among those who followed this path is Shashank Sohgal, who is making his feature film debut after helming five short films.

"Making short films is a learning curve, and it depends on how we embrace the opportunities," says Shashank, adding, "During my days of directing short films, I was always welcoming of critical feedback. I asked people, fellow filmmakers, and friends to point out my mistakes, which ultimately helped me grow. One of my short films, Patinga, gained considerable popularity. That success not only boosted my confidence but also propelled me towards directing a feature film."

Now, Shashank Sohgal is all set for his directorial debut, titled Daredevil Musthafa, which is based on Poornachandra Tejaswi's famous short story of the same name. Presented by Dhananjay's Daali Pictures, and distributed by KRG Studios, the film is slated for a May 19 release. "Dhananjay is a literature enthusiast, and that passion got him involved in the project. When he saw the showreel, he was overcome with excitement and realised the innocence of the content. After watching the film, he took the decision to present it," says Shashank.

Daredevil Musthafa revolves around Ramanuja Iyengari and his gang's cunning plan to have Musthafa expelled from college. This exciting narrative unfolds through a series of fun-filled adventures, ultimately leading to a thrilling cricket match that will determine the fate of everyone involved. According to the director, the underlying theme of Daredevil Musthafa, might appear simple, but beautifully highlights the absence of religious barriers among the youth. "The narrative not only promises thrilling adventures but also explores the important theme of unity beyond religious differences," he explains.

According to Shashank, the screenplay presented a unique challenge as he wanted to preserve the essence of Tejaswi's thoughts. "The original short story had an open ending and left us pondering about the author's intentions. But in the film, we have provided a conclusion by introducing additional characters. Personally, I believe we have done justice to it, and I hope the audience feels the same," he says.

Despite the novel being published in the 1970s, the film does not adhere to a specific timeline but does generate a strong vintage charm of a bygone era. "Retro stories have a captivating effect on the audience, and I can give recent examples of KGF and Kantara, which were set in the past, and went on to become blockbusters. Although it has a period setting, the underlying story remains relevant, and that's precisely what we have tried to achieve in Daredevil Musthafa," says Shashank.

The filmmaker also believes the film's emotions, themes, politics, and humour will be relatable to today's audience. "I believe today's youth will enjoy witnessing the college atmosphere of that era, and for the slightly elder generation, it will evoke a strong sense of nostalgia. In fact, veteran actor Mandya Ramesh, who is part of the film, became emotional during the dubbing process as he was transported back to his college days. The film will create a unique experience for each group," says Shashank.

Interestingly, with Daredevil Musthafa requiring a bigger budget due to an expanding canvas, the film eventually transformed into a crowdfunded project. "We shot this film in a 60-day schedule, and we required a minimum of 50 people on set every day. There was risk involved, and as a last resort, I took to Facebook and pitched the idea. Fortunately, we received support from 100 fans of Tejaswi who generously funded the film. This made Daredevil Musthafa the first-ever crowdfunded film, which was specifically backed by an author's fans," he says.

Explaining his take on Daredevil Musthafa, Shashank reiterates that he went with a rather realistic approach to the narrative. "We took inspiration from classic films like Malgudi Days. Although we couldn't find a suitable college backdrop in the Malnad region, we stumbled upon a 150-year-old school in Mysuru, which was converted into a college where 90 percent of the movie has been shot. Interestingly, while shooting, we discovered that Poornachandra Tejaswi's father, Kuvempu, had studied there until class V. Additionally, we filmed in locations such as Mudigeri and Kottegehara, where Tejaswi resided," reveals Shashank, who shares that the film needed a huge star cast to bring to life a college story. "There are 18 actors in prominent roles, and at least 100 junior artists. We wanted students aged 16 to 18 as the story revolves around 1st PUC and II PUC, and we primarily cast theatre artists from Mysuru and Bengaluru," explains the director, adding, "The college staff and principal were portrayed by familiar faces like Mandya Ramesh, Nagabhushana, and Poornachandra."

Among the lead characters, Shishir essays the titular role, and Adhitya Ashree plays a significant character. Both are theatre artistes from Mysuru and Bengaluru. The film also stars Preerna, a Bharatanatyam student who began shooting for the film while she was still in 10th grade. Sharing his shooting experience with youngsters, Shashank says it was incredibly refreshing. "The youthful vibe was infectious. I had actors who were younger than me, and it was liberating. We had a lot of input and improvisation. The script may have been one page, but the acting expanded it to two pages, and the humour was working brilliantly," he says. The film has music by Navaneeth Sharm, and Rahul Roy handling the cinematography.

There was a time when film adaptations of novels were incredibly popular in the Kannada film industry, but it has become a rarity today with most filmmakers donning the roles of both writer and director. "All my short films are written by me. However, the decision to work on Daredevil Musthafa stemmed from a personal connection. A sense of expression resonated within me, and I worked on its screenplay," he says.

Shashank also believes the practice of reading books is very important when it comes to developing stories for the screen. "Although I started cultivating the habit of reading quite late, during my college days, I began immersing myself in novels written by authors like S L Bhyrappa, Ravi Belegare, and Poornachandra Tejaswi. As I read, I often envisioned the narratives from a cinematic perspective. One such story that caught my attention was Daredevil Musthafa," says the director.

Shashank wraps up his conversation saying that he has compiled a list of novels and short stories that could be adapted into films, and the realisation of the same hinges on the box-office result of Daredevil Musthafa.
